CHEAT DEATH—Starving, cold and close to death from exposure, the bedraggled crew of the British refrigerator ship Marconi clammers aboard the coastguard cutter General Green, 500 miles off the New Brunswick coast. They said 12 German submarines had been operating south of Greenland, close to the U.S. neutrality zone. They revealed that eight British merchantmen—one of them the Marconi—out of nine in a convoy were torpedoed and sunk, May 20.

Final Bulletins

Free of Disputes

OTTAWA (CP)—The return to work of striking employees of the Canadian General Electric Company in Toronto made Canada free today of labor disputes involving stoppage of work on war production, Labor Minister McLarty told a questioner in Commons this afternoon.

Envoy Instructed

TOKYO (AP)—The cabinet approved today instructions to Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japan's envoy in the stalemated economic negotiations with the Netherlands East Indies, and indications were he would be directed to negotiate further.

Canadian Scores

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry's news service disclosed tonight that the navigator of the Beaufort torpedo aircraft which was announced to have hit and probably crippled a Nazi pocket battleship in the North Sea was a Canadian.

The service said the pilot came from Coventry, English Midlands city laid waste by Nazi bombs, and the sergeant navigator from Saskatchewan. It did not further identify either.

Germans Told British Bomb Deadly

BERLIN (AP)—The Berlin district air defence command advised the capital's inhabitants today to go to air raid protection cellars immediately when sirens sound because "the enemy's new-type weapon has a severe effect."

The warning noted that many persons go to cellars only when anti-aircraft artillery goes into action, with the result "that there have been a great number of bomb victims."

Experience, it said, shows that rooms below ground are safest during an air raid.

British reports of recent air operations against Germany have described the devastating effects of a new superbomb containing an unidentified explosive.

SYRIANS POSTPONE SURRENDER

Canadian and Associated Press
Rebuffed in a peace gesture, British and Free French forces in Lebanon and Syria were authoritatively reported today to be closing in on Beirut and broadening the base for perhaps a final assault on Damascus.

A high source in London declared that forces advancing along the Mediterranean shore had pushed north of Sidon to a point within 20 miles of Beirut, Lebanon capital, while Free French forces had taken two villages, east of Kessouh, facing Damascus 10 miles to the north.

A report from Damascus itself said the Syrian capital probably will not be defended when Allied forces cross the outlying defenses. The city, it appears, will be treated as an open, or unfortified city. There has been no preparation for fighting, the report said.

Canadians In Syria?

VICHY (AP)—The Vichy government late today asserted Canadian troops were in the van of an Allied column which gained a foothold in an advance Syrian post in the Merdjoyoun-Hasbaya area.

(There was no indication from Canadian or British sources that any units of the Canadian Corps had left the United Kingdom for the Middle East.

(On March 5 the Italian Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, said "an almost complete division of Canadians" had been landed at Salonika, Greece, two days before.

(It was suspected Gayda was fishing for information and his statement proved untrue. At that time Canadian authorities followed their usual practice of declining comment, but on April 1 Defence Minister Ralston said in the House of Commons that since the fall of France no suggestion had been made that Canadian troops serving in England should move to another theatre of war except for small detachments which had gone to Gibraltar for special work.)

VISITING FIREMAN—Proving photogenic as New York's little mayor, tall Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, does a La Guardia with fireman's helmet while visiting Washington station with British fire fighters.

Roosevelt Indisposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Suffering from what was described as a slight sore throat, President Roosevelt canceled all his engagements today, including the regular Friday cabinet meeting and press conference.

ALLIES SWING IT—Greek meets Briton on floor of Madison Square Garden in New York as Helen Zervos, in Evzone costume, and Harry Powell, British sailor, carve carpets in fashion symbolic of Allied unity.

Prime Minister King Speaks

Canadian Corps Ready To Go Anywhere

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian forces in England are ready to go to whatever front they may be sent, Prime Minister Mackenzie King declared in the House of Commons today.

"We have made known to all the world that our forces overseas are ready to go, and that we are equally ready to have them go wherever their services may count for most," the Prime Minister declared.

He made a statement on the general war situation at the request of M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. House leader, who suggested such a statement might strengthen morale.

Staff Consults Ottawa

Outside the Commons it was pointed out unofficially that when men enlist in the active army they are taken on strength for service anywhere.

There have been no restrictions on their use of movement, but Canadian formations sent to Britain would hardly be moved to another theatre of war by the Allied high command without prior consultation with the Canadian government.

Reaffirms Canada's Stand

It was understood no new declaration as to use of Canadian troops had been drawn up, but rather that the Prime Minister was reaffirming the Dominion's position that her troops are at the disposal of the British general staff.

Before the fall of France a Canadian brigade was sent to France and then withdrawn. Other smaller formations have been used elsewhere outside Canada and the British Isles for special defence assignments.

In his survey of war developments, Mr. King said: "I have no hesitation whatever in saying that a true perspective of the situation should go a long way toward strengthening the national morale."

The fact that although reliance was placed a year ago on the French fleet and land forces in Syria and north Africa to defend Allied interests in the Mediterranean, no "vital British position" has been lost since the fall of France, was cause "not for satisfaction, certainly, but at least for thankfulness," he said.

Having regard to comparative available resources of tonnage, targets and striking power, "the balance of the effective destruction is not tilted as heavily as might appear upon the side of Germany and Italy," the Prime Minister said of the war at sea.

Germans Learn Of Raiders' Success

In the air the balance was gradually being adjusted. British bombing raids on German industry were becoming increasingly effective. The Nazi propaganda agencies were no longer able to conceal their effect from the German people.

Every month more Canadian men and weapons were added to the defenses of Great Britain. The Canadian Corps of two divisions was sharing in that defense.

2 More Divisions Prepared

"We are dispatching two additional divisions, one a third infantry division, the other an armored division, also a tank brigade, and many reinforcements," said Mr. King. All will have been dispatched in the course of the present year. This is apart altogether from the forces we are retaining in Canada.

Ships of the Canadian navy are serving in the coastal waters of Britain, and taking an increasing part in Atlantic convoy work.

There were now 50,000 men in the Royal Canadian Air Force and the number was increasing every day.

Russians 'Assume' No Attack On Them Coming

Europe Watches as Nazi Troops Mass

Canadian and Associated Press

In orders given out at Helsinki tonight the Finnish government announced restrictions on travel by foreigners in northern and border districts similar to regulations in force during the Finnish-Russian war and prior to the beginning of German troop transits through northern Finland last fall.

Earlier in the day an Associated Press dispatch from London said the possibility of "Russian-German disagreement bordering on active warfare" was being "nourished by repeated but unconfirmable reports that Berlin demands on Russia were of such magnitude acceptance would loosen Moscow's military hold on the Baltic and Black Seas."

Russians Say Nazi Troops Move

A statement by Tass, the official Russian news agency, issued in Moscow tonight, said German troops, freed from operations in the Balkans, are moving to eastern and northeastern Germany (where they face Russia), but added that "it must be assumed" that the movements have no bearing on Russian-German relations.

The statement, which was broadcast to the world by radio, said that Germany, "according to information at the disposal of the U.S.S.R.," is adhering to the German-Russian nonaggression as unswervingly as the Soviet Union."

In the light of available information, the statement went on, "rumors of Germany's intention to disrupt the pact and undertake an attack on the U.S.S.R. are devoid of any ground, whereas dispatching of German troops to eastern and northeastern districts of Germany, which is now taking place, is connected, it should be assumed, with other motives having no bearing on Soviet-German relations."

The statement denied Germany had presented any territorial or economic demands to Russia.

Manoeuvres Explained

As for Russian troop movements, the statement declared manoeuvres now under way or forthcoming "have no other purpose than the training of reservists and checking of the work of the railroad organization."

To call these Russian manoeuvres "inimical to Germany is, to say the least, absurd," the statement concluded.

Nazi Leaves Canceled, 18-year-olds Called

The British Broadcasting Corporation in a broadcast transcribed by the CBS at New York, quoted the Swedish newspaper Social Demokraten today as reporting the German army had canceled all leaves and that men born in 1923 who have not yet done military service had been called up.

The BBC added that the Swedish correspondent, presumably in Berlin, had reported that "the explanation given in military quarters is that the measures have been taken in order to end the war at the earliest possible moment."

Cripps Reports In London

In London informed quarters said today discussions between Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Russia, and government leaders in London are "primarily concerned with Russian-German relations."

Sir Stafford Cripps reached London by air from the Soviet capital Wednesday, for what was described as a trip in line with Britain's policy of having her envoys report periodically, and to establish contact with the home government.

The informants today refused to say whether an editorial in The Times of London hinting Sir Stafford would not return to the U.S.S.R. was officially inspired. The Times' editorial said "It may well be asked whether there is not at the present juncture a more urgent call nearer home on Sir Stafford's exceptional capacities."

The newspaper remarked the ambassador had been received in Moscow "without enthusiasm".

and that "at no time has he been admitted to the confidence of the Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs."

The Times reflected the Foreign Office's interest in what the newspaper called "rumors of a turning point in German-Soviet relations which have been current all over Europe in the last few days."

Germany and Russia, the newspaper asserted, are playing "a dangerous game of bluff and counter-bluff," with both desiring to avoid war but "determined the one to exhort and the other to refuse as much as it dares without provoking hostilities."

Guns Go Off Unexpectedly

"It is a sort of situation in which guns sometimes go off without either side having really intended it," it added.

Speculation in London centred on the nature of the alleged German demands on Russia.

One interpretation is that the reported German threat fits into the British diplomatic offensive seeking Russian collaboration with the Allies. It was reasoned that prominence given the report might well push Russia toward Britain and away from Germany.

Then Britain might keep Sir Stafford in London, it was speculated, until the crucial moment, when he would return to Moscow bearing British offers of friendship.

R.A.F. Damages Nazi War Vessel

Air Torpedo Hits German Battleship

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry announced tonight that a German pocket battleship had been hit by a torpedo fired by a British plane off the Norwegian coast early today.

The communiqué said that "dense clouds of white smoke arose from the vessel," which it did not identify by name, and declared that later the ship was seen stationary off the southern point of Norway.

Still later, it added, the battleship and escorting destroyers were seen "retiring toward the Skagerrak at greatly reduced speed."

Germany has only two pocket battleships—strong, swift ships of 10,000 tons carrying 11-inch guns—since the scuttling of the Admiral Graf Spee off Montevideo, Uruguay, December, 1939.

The remaining two are the Admiral Scheer and the Luetzow, formerly the Deutschland.

The battleship when first sighted was heading north and informed quarters said "it is inconceivable that she was going anywhere except on a raiding expedition."

One air-launched torpedo scored a "direct hit amidships," and another was launched into the smoke which quickly enveloped the warship, the Air Ministry news service said. This meant that more than one plane attacked.

The battleship was accompanied by five destroyers, the service added, but not a single shot was fired at the attacking planes.

The ships were first sighted by coastal bombers which just before had spotted a German seaplane. Informed sources said the German plane probably was on scout duty for the pocket battleship and her destroyer escort.

NAZIS SUPPRESS GOEBBELS ARTICLE

BERLIN (AP)—A part of an edition of Hitler's newspaper, Völkischer Beobachter, containing an article by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels which said Britain would fall into error if she thought water was an insurmountable obstacle, was ordered confiscated today.

Goebbels said Britain has a traditional attitude toward military matters and is slow to adjust herself to technical developments. The German army, on the other hand, takes nothing for granted, experiments constantly, works out old problems in the light of technical advances, he wrote.

Nazi spokesmen would not comment on reasons for the confiscation.

Goebbels' article said Britons constantly demonstrate in manoeuvres that invasion is impossible.

"Certainly there are ways and means of overcoming such obstacles (water)," Goebbels wrote. "Every campaign has its objective and every objective is gained by the means suited to the particular problem...."

"If today Crete events are hotly debated in England, one need merely substitute the word England for Crete to understand what is meant."

Prime Minister King Reviews War

'Tides of Tyranny Will Beat in Vain'

OTTAWA (CP)—Text of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's war statement in the House of Commons today follows:

Whether it is better to fight and lose, or not to fight at all, is one of the oldest questions facing military strategists confronted with an enemy of superior strength. Reverses there are bound to be, and we must not lose heart when they come.

When we recall that, up till a year ago, Britain placed her main reliance on the French forces in Syria and North Africa and on the French fleet in the Mediterranean for the protection of the common allied interests in the whole Mediterranean basin, and then reflect that a year has passed since the collapse of France and no vital British position has yet been lost, it should give us cause, not for satisfaction certainly, but, at least, for thankfulness.

In an attempt to capture the changing phases of a world-wide war, it is obvious that the picture, if reflected by sunshine, must also be darkened by shadow. Today there may be an encircling gloom—tomorrow there will be shafts of light.

Undue Elation Helps Enemy

I can but reiterate what I have previously said to this House and to the people of Canada. We shall only be helping the enemy and not ourselves, if we are unduly elated by temporary success, or if we are unduly downcast by temporary failure.

No thoughtful man can ever have believed that this war would be over in a few months, or won by a short, sharp thrust. From the very beginning it was obvious that the volcanic forces let loose in the world were so mighty that a long, grim struggle was inevitable. It was bound to spread from nation to nation, from ocean to ocean, and from continent to continent.

The weak, the unprotected, and the perversely neutral were obliged to fall by the wayside. The final conflict was inevitably destined to be waged between the strong.

Today, in what may be the bitterest chapter of the battle for freedom, state discipline fights self discipline. The strongest men ever forged and hammered by a state meet on many fronts the strongest men ever tempered by the fires of liberty.

In this last chapter a few indubitable facts stand out in bold relief.

The war will be won or lost not in Africa or in Asia or in the islands of the Pacific, but in the wide waters of the Atlantic, on the shores and in the skies of Britain. The Mediterranean is but an outpost of the city of liberty. The battlefields are in the Atlantic and the English Channel.

Freedom falls only if Britain falls.

Let me for a moment seek to balance our advantages and our disadvantages in the air, on the land and at sea.

In the air, the balance of machine power is gradually being adjusted. Increasing numbers of Nazi bombers are being destroyed at night; British raids on German objectives have not only grown more effective, but no longer can the official silence of the usually loquacious German propaganda ministry, hide their results from the German people.

In his Reichstag speech on May 4, Hitler was forced to promise still better weapons next year.

This statement was the first indication given to the German people that the war would not, as hitherto forecast by Hitler, be ended this year. Thus are the prophecies of the violent put to confusion by free men.

The stream of machines continues to flow. If any further evidence were needed of the growth of the British and Allied air power it is to be found in the aggressive activity in the Atlantic Ocean, in the North Sea and in the Mediterranean. It is to be found, too, in the steady expansive activity that every day pursues its revenge against those who scattered indiscriminate murder and destruction upon British soil from the British air. Everywhere in sky warfare a situation not yet mastered nevertheless improves from day to day.

British Sea Power Realities Remain

On the sea the curve of loss has recently shown a decline. The shipping losses for May were considerably lower than they were for April. The attack of the Bismarck upon H.M.S. Hood was followed by relentless pursuit and swift retribution. The realities of British sea power remain.

The catalogue of the heavy losses sustained by enemy shipping proves that, if regard is paid to the comparative available resources, tonnage, targets and striking power, the balance of the effective destruction is not tilted as heavily as might appear upon the side of Germany and Italy.

Most heartening of all in the present situation is the attitude of the United States. The promises of President Roosevelt are not only being kept, they are being enlarged. The announcement by the President on April 29 that United States warships would be sent wherever the needs of hemispheric defence required their presence, the speeches of Mr. Stimson (United States War Secretary), and Mr. Knox (United States Navy Secretary), early in May, the passage by Congress of the Bill authorizing the seizure of foreign vessels in United States waters—all these were encouraging signs of stiffening opinion, and the decisive point was reached by the President in his broadcast May 27 when he made it plain that the United States would take whatever steps were necessary to ensure the delivery of American supplies to Britain.

U.S. President Facing the Facts

Mr. Roosevelt did not minimize the seriousness of the battle of the Atlantic. His statement that British shipping losses far exceeded the present combined ship-building capacity of Britain and the United States marks a thoroughly realistic facing of the facts.

This continent is rapidly becoming not only the arsenal of democracy but the shipyard of the freedom of the seas. Canada has mobilized all possible resources of men, materials and suitable locations to build ships. American and Canadian construction have begun the race against destruction. Every ship added to the Canadian navy helps to relieve the tremendous burden so gallantly borne by the British navy. Every new American warship, every new Canadian warship, helps the British navy to detect and to destroy. Every new merchant ship is a guarantee of men, machines, munitions and food.

In connection with land operations, there is nothing which can be added to the closing remarks of Mr. Churchill made in his speech on Wednesday, June 11. If we eliminate the occupation of the Channel Islands by German forces at this time of speaking, after nearly two years of war, no enemy soldier has a foot on British soil. As Mr. Churchill said:

"If anybody had said in June last, we should today hold every yard of the territories for which Great Britain is responsible in the Middle East, that we should have conquered the whole Italian Empire, that Egypt, Palestine and Iraq would have been successfully defended—anyone who said that would have been thought a foolish visionary—yet that is the position at the moment."

Those briefly are the salient, they are the outstanding facts about tangible things.

Canada's Effort Gaining Steadily

As far as Canada is concerned, our own war effort in men and materials has steadily gained in momentum, in volume and in power. We are adding every day to the material and strength of the allied cause. Every month sees more Canadian troops, more Canadian sailors and more Canadian airmen added to the number of the defenders of Britain.

For some time past we have had an army corps of two divisions in the British Isles. As the corps commander, Lieut.-Gen. McNaughton has pointed out, they are helping to garrison the one vital citadel, the retention of which decides the war.

We have made known to all the world that our forces overseas are ready to go, and that we are equally ready to have them go wherever their services may count for most.

Canada to Send More Troops Abroad

We are dispatching to Britain two additional divisions, one, a third infantry division, the other an armored division, also a tank brigade and many reinforcements. All will have been dispatched in the course of the present year. This is apart altogether from the forces we are retaining in Canada.

Ships of Canada's navy have, as all honorable members are aware, been engaged with British ships in the coastal waters of Britain. They are now taking an increasingly important part in the defence of the Atlantic coast and in the duties of convoy on the great passageway of the Atlantic, so vital not only to the present of Britain, but also to the future of Canada and of the United States of America.

Canadian airmen and Canadian squadrons, as all are aware, have from the beginning been taking their part in the battle of Britain. In the Royal Canadian Air Force we have today 50,000 men.

Every day that number is increased by graduates from the British Commonwealth air training plan. The training plan this year will double the number of its enlistments. In Canada over 50 training schools, 20 manning depots and 20 recruiting centres are already in full operation. From this source is flowing to Britain an ever-increasing stream of pilots, observers and gunners. They have crossed to Britain in thousands, and will continue to cross in ever-increasing numbers.

We have recently sent from Canada to Britain 1,000 radio technicians whose help has been invaluable and will be invaluable in the cleaning of the midnight air. More are following on.

We are making machines for Britain's armed forces as well as for our own. Canadian motor transport vehicles, machine guns, aircraft, corvettes, minesweepers as well as shells, explosives and chemicals are being sent in growing volume across the Atlantic.

We are sending and will continue to send to Britain all the goods which ships can be found to carry, but we are not stopping there. We recognize the tremendous financial burden which the British peoples are bearing. That burden, as well, we are continuing to share in ever-increasing measure.

Without complaint our people are bearing the heaviest taxes in their history. In addition they are loaning their savings to their government. I know that with loyal willingness they will lend and, if necessary, give, whatever is needed to strengthen and supplement the financial resources of the government of this country.

Day in Ottawa

OTTAWA. Blocks of estimates were approved in mass as the Commons rushed through adjournment.

Conservative House Leader Hanson left Ottawa for his home without waiting for adjournment.

Finance Minister Isley said six provinces had agreed to play ball by vacating the personal and corporation income tax field for the duration of the war. They are: British Columbia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia. The minister said nothing about whether the other three: Ontario, Quebec and Alberta, had expressed intention to agree.

Prime Minister King said if all premiers of the provinces unite in a request for another provincial conference, it will be called, and added: "I do not want any of them to wait to be asked what their views are. I invite them now, if they wish a conference, to write and so notify me."

Commons adopted Prime Minister's motion fixing November 3 as next meeting day after present adjournment.

However, members might be called back earlier to deal with St. Lawrence Waterway agreement if it passes U.S. Congress.

Hemlock to Appease Japs

The Jap wheat deal debate brought out that hemlock logs have also been going out from British Columbia to appease Japan, although the public was not allowed to know anything about it because of the censorship.

Mr. King said the permits for hemlock, as well as wheat, were given with the knowledge and desire of the British government, and to safeguard against any incident occurring in Canada which might be construed in Japan as offensive.

T. L. Church (Conservative, Toronto-Broadview) asked if the Prime Minister proposed to continue his appeasement policy towards nonfriendly nations, including Vichy.

The Canadian people are performing a magnificent task. They will not fall the cause to which we have pledged our all. They are producing, and will produce to the limits of their strength and genius, the material, tangible things, without which victory cannot be won.

Canadians Fight For Wider Freedom

There remain, also, as our sure strength and shield, the intangible things of the human spirit. The will to live, and to endure every hardship that all may continue to enjoy the blessings of freedom is a part of Canadian character. We in Canada have a veritable passion for human brotherhood; a hatred of hate; an intolerance of intolerance. Ours is the unshaken and unshakable purpose to re-establish upon the earth, now hideous with the blackened ruins of civilization, a freedom, wider and more deeply founded in social and international justice, than ever before in human history.

All these intangible things are the very fibre and fabric of the national character alike of the British and Canadian peoples. Tried by many onslaughts, tested by many defeats, the inner fortresses of that character remain unbroken and unbreakable, impregnable, indomitable. Against their walls, the tides of tyranny and the waves of battle will beat in vain.

Brass Hats Under Fire

Major Alan Cockram, Conservative, South York, arose in his Irish Regiment uniform and urged Defence Minister Ralston to "house-clean" national defence headquarters. He complained of inefficiency and slowness of brass hats there in supplying equipment and in the training of troops.

Said Cockram: "If the German battleship Bismarck and the Prinz Eugen had been able to land their extra forces in Canada, we would have been licked."

"My own regiment is on the way to defend the east coast. Our establishment of Bren guns is 50 and we have 12. There are similar shortages of Bren gun carriers, trench mortars, anti-tank guns and other equipment. "I think it is time the militia department came to life. Let us in the army know we have leadership. Now we have none."

Corrections

Col. Ralston replied: "Equipment can be supplied only as fast as Canadian industry can produce it and the training system is approved by British army authorities. Training now being done is basic, which must be given before the higher training in large formations."

In spite of the changes he had already made among the brass hats, Col. Ralston said he would make more rather than have "square pegs in round holes." As for General Staff Chief Crerar, he said he was recommended for the post by General McNaughton.

Col. Ralston also said: "It is impossible to have efficient mobilization and training until officers have been trained. Training is now being carried out for both officers and N.C.O.s but it takes time. Men are being sent to England for courses as instructors and British officers brought out to assist."

"There have been 14,000 men discharged so far and I am not pleased with it. Steps have been taken to correct that and now it is charged the medical examination is too severe."

Germans Face Demand No More U.S. Ship Sinkings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State, today asserted the facts in the sinking of the Robin Moor were beyond dispute and indirectly accused Germany of violating an international treaty on submarine warfare.

The evidence of 11 survivors of the sunken American merchant vessel was very clear and there could be no dispute as to the facts, he told his press conference.

(An Associated Press from Berlin said the German public today remained unaware the Robin Moor had been sunk by a submarine. Newspapers had not printed a word about the incident.)

As to what action the United States will take, Welles said he would withhold a considered statement until the full dispositions of the 11 survivors were received from American officials in Brazil and were investigated here.

An account of their testimony, however, issued by the state department yesterday, charged that the Robin Moor was sunk in the south Atlantic on May 21 by a German submarine which gave the passengers and crew 30 minutes to abandon the vessel before it was torpedoed and shelled.

Welles was asked for comment on the statement of a German spokesman in Berlin that "we won't be buffaloed by American and English discussions concerning the Robin Moor" and that "wherever any ship with contraband sails for England we'll shoot at it."

Welles replied that the question of what constitutes contraband is one of the most controversial in all the world and that the United States government had not at any time acquiesced in contraband definitions of either side in the present war.

Apart from Welles's statement, indications came from authoritative sources that the United States will lodge a vigorous protest with Germany, citing evidence of Robin Moor survivors. The state department's note, informed quarters predicted, will also demand restitution be made for the loss of American lives and property—35 persons are missing—and that assurances be given against repetition of the incident.

Britain Tells Petain Vichy Brought on Syria Fight

WHERE FRENCH MEET FRENCH—A glimpse of Beirut, capital of Lebanon, against which Free French and British forces are driving from the south. When this picture was taken French (Vichy) tanks were being trucked through the centre of the city during a recent military demonstration.

LONDON (CP) — The Vichy government informed Britain it would "avoid taking any action which might aggravate or spread the conflict" in Syria and Lebanon.

The Vichy regime, in a note dated June 8, asserted, however, the Allied attack on the French-mandated territories "risks producing the gravest consequences," and "the French government is determined to defend its territory and possessions, wherever they may be attacked, with all means at its disposal."

The British government, expressing pleasure at the French assurances, replied its action in Syria was based on "facts known to them and not on theoretical considerations," and that "His Majesty's government can not be expected to enter into argument with Marshal Petain's government on the subject of the meaning of the word 'collaboration.'"

(Vichy reports said a second and stronger note had been sent Britain reiterating Vichy's insistence that no German troops were there.)

The notes were exchanged through the British embassy in Madrid.

The Vichy government claimed all German personnel and equipment, except for about 10 wounded and two or three damaged planes, had been removed from Syria.

Britain's reply to the original Vichy note said in part:

"His Majesty's government would recall that His Majesty's principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the House of Commons on May 22 that if the Vichy government in pursuance of their declared policy of collaboration with the enemy took action or permitted action detrimental to His Majesty's government's conduct of the war or designed to assist the enemy's war effort, His Majesty's government would naturally hold themselves free to attack the enemy wherever he might be found."

"Responsibility for the consequences of assistance which French authorities in Syria were instructed to render to enemies of His Majesty's government must therefore rest with Marshal Petain's government."

"His Majesty's government are happy to note that Marshal Petain's government will avoid taking any action which might aggravate or spread the conflict. They have no desire that French blood should be shed and would consequently suggest that it would be in the interest of both countries if Marshal Petain's government saw their way to instruct their forces in Syria to offer no opposition to measures which the Allied forces are taking in order to prevent the enemy from using Syria as a base of operations against them."

"His Majesty's government take this opportunity to repeat that they have no territorial designs in Syria or anywhere in French overseas possessions, and it is their intention when victory is won to restore the independence and greatness of France."

Brest, Antwerp, Rotterdam Bombed

Ruhr Factories Blown To Sky in Biggest Raid

LONDON (CP)—Many industrial buildings were blown into the sky and numerous fires started last night in Germany's great manufacturing region, the Ruhr Valley, by a large force of British bombers in the heaviest raid of the war on that region. It was announced today.

Six planes of the bomber command were lost.

The attack "was the heaviest carried out in a single night against that industrial area and a great weight of bombs was dropped," said the Air Ministry's communique.

While the bomber command was attacking the smoky Ruhr, planes of the coastal command attacked docks at Brest, France, and Antwerp, Belgium, and also targets near Rotterdam, the Netherlands. One plane failed to return.

BUILDINGS GUTTED

"Buildings were sharply silhouetted against the walls of fire. Warehouses could be seen completely gutted. Whole areas often were lit in flames."

"At one vital railway yard the bursting of a bomb was followed by a succession of explosions in line, one after another, over a period of 10 minutes, as though a store of ammunition had been hit."

A typical experience of the night was described by a rear gunner.

"We made four runs over our target before dropping bombs," he said. "Meanwhile we saw a terrific explosion and knew another aircraft already had begun the attack."

SPLASHED UP

"It must have been an immense bomb. It was rather like the effect you get when you throw a rock into a pool—everything splashed up all around. Then I saw black smoke hundreds of feet high."

A methodical search over another target was made by many aircraft, flares from which were dropped in a continuous raid.

"There were never fewer than three in the sky at once, and usually more," an observer said.

NAZI BAGGED

German night fighters were about, and there were many inconclusive engagements. Over Holland a fighter—the moon at his tail—came straight at a bomber whose rear gunner held his fire until the enemy was close. Then he gave a long burst at 200 yards and flames burst from the fighter, which immediately went into a dive.

In the Ruhr district, within a radius of 50 miles, three-quarters of Germany's whole output of coal is mined and 80 per cent of her iron and steel industry is situated. The area is linked by a network of roads, railways and canals and is closely set with industrial towns.

Reports said thousands of tons of high explosives and incendiaries were rained on the district.

An amplification of the official statement said the attack began soon after midnight, with aircraft out "in great force."

"Wave after wave of our aircraft made this sweep of the Ruhr, often coming down through the clouds and dropping flares to light the ground below. Several aircraft bombed from so low that the crews distinctly felt the concussion of their heavier bombs and many were able to see fragments of masonry blown into the air."

NEW CABINET MEMBER—The task of the Minister of National War Services is being taken over by Joseph T. Thorson (above). In that portfolio he succeeds Hon. J. G. Gardiner, who had held it in addition to the agriculture portfolio and who from now on will devote his whole time to agriculture. Mr. Thorson is Liberal member of the Commons for Selkirk, Man.

Town Bombed In East Anglia

LONDON (CP)—In a five-minute battle 20,000 feet above the southeast English coast this afternoon, a group of British fighters turned back a formation of Messerschmitts.

Several sharp bursts of cannon fire were heard and, after one long burst, an unidentified plane dived with a loud scream and appeared to have fallen into the sea.

Last night Nazi raiders dropped bombs on parts of eastern England. The Air Ministry reported that "at one town in East Anglia there were a small number of casualties, some of which were fatal."

A Blenheim aircraft of the coastal command was attacked by three Nazi planes in vicinity of a British convoy last night. The enemy aircraft were engaged by guns of the ships in the convoy and by the Blenheim. One Nazi plane received a direct hit and when last seen was on fire and losing height. The other two German planes fled. The Blenheim suffered no damage.

5,394 KILLED IN MAY

Nazi air raiders killed 5,394 persons in Great Britain during May and wounded 5,181, the Ministry of Home Security announced today.

Seventy-five additional persons were listed as missing and believed dead.

The announcement said the dead included 2,512 men, 1,994 women, 753 children under 16 years of age and 135 unclassified.

The injured included 2,930 men, 1,835 women and 416 children. Figures for May were lower than those for April, when 6,065 persons were reported killed and 6,926 injured.

From last June, when heavy raids against the British Isles began, through May, 41,150 civilians have been killed and 53,037 injured, the latest figures indicate. Deaths may have been higher because some of those originally listed as hurt may have died.

The peak for monthly casualties was last September, when 6,956 persons were killed and 10,615 injured.

According to the "mandate of heaven" belief in ancient China, natural calamities and social unrest were signs from the gods that the government in power was no longer entitled to rule, and that popular revolt was justified.

One Point Cleared Up

ALTHOUGH THE VICHY GOVERNMENT first of all announced its decision to "avoid taking any action which might aggravate or spread the conflict" in Syria and Lebanon, it is interesting to note that the Petain regime—voluntarily or at German dictation—declares all Nazi personnel and equipment, except for some wounded troops and damaged planes, have been removed from the new sphere of operations. If any official answer were needed to the original complaint that Hitler's technicians and "tourists" had created a cause for British action, it is surely provided in this "explanation"—contained in a communication delivered to Sir Samuel Hoare through the Foreign Office in Madrid. Petain and his fellow "collaborators" had received ample warning from Mr. Churchill that the presence of Nazi trouble-makers in any zone likely to imperil British security would quickly be followed by suitable action. German activity in this French-mandated territory obliged the government in London to act in its own interests.

It is not surprising that the authorities at Vichy find themselves in a difficult situation. Nor will anybody feel disposed to underestimate the pressure being constantly applied by Berlin. But it is too late in the day for Marshal Petain to raise his hands and eyes to high heaven as if British action in Syria has come in the nature of a stab in the back, or as anything but the logical sequel to his own and his government's conduct. As Mr. Churchill and other members of the cabinet in London have intimated in language simple enough for anybody to understand, Britain is not in the least interested in the measure or theory of Vichy's collaboration with Berlin; but she is directly concerned with the application of the principle of such collaboration.

What the Vichy government does now, either on its own initiative or under Germany's "persuasive" direction, is a matter for itself to decide. Marshal Petain knew full well that the situation in Syria had taken a turn which Britain could not ignore; either he or Admiral Darlan, or both, had winked at Nazi infiltration. They knew also what Mr. Churchill has proclaimed many times. In slightly different form, he reiterated his original resolve yesterday when he said the enemy "will find no peace, no rest, no halting place, no parley." Nothing the Prime Minister can do, of course, may change the plans of the men of Vichy. If it is their intention to declare war against their former ally, that, too, is their business. But what goes for one enemy of the British and Allied cause goes for all enemies.

Both Good or Both Bad

HERE IN VICTORIA THE OTHER DAY a citizen went to his safety deposit box in the bank and took out a roll of bills of large denomination which he always kept in that receptacle against the day he might require some ready cash. He argued that he knew they were safe there, easily accessible, and no red tape had to be unfurled before he could put them into circulation as he saw fit. Well and good; but it evidently had not occurred to him that not all the dollar or thousand-dollar bills so tucked away against the squalls of the proverbial rainy day would be of any value whatsoever if some unforeseen circumstance had undermined the credit of the nation; if, for example, Hitler's "New Order" had spilled over onto this continent because the Canadian people had not bought sufficient Victory Bonds to help to furnish the tools to prevent such an unthinkable disaster. The moral of this true story is simple to understand: Every dollar subscribed to the present loan issue is underwritten by all that 11,500,000 Canadians are and intend to be. The $1,000 bond is as good as, or as useless as, the $1,000 bill. Each has the same promise to pay. But if the bill is converted into the bond, the chance of victory over the system which would make both valueless is that much enhanced. And the bond, which is always security for cash, pays interest.

So There!

AT LEAST ONE SUPPORTER OF THE New Democracy movement does not propose to be downed because the party fared somewhat poorly at the Dominion general election last year. This one has written a letter to the Ottawa Citizen to show what he thinks about the government the Canadian people chose on that occasion, and particularly to convey his special estimate of Hon. James G. Gardiner—just succeeded in the post of Minister of War Services by Mr. J. T. Thomson—who recently had said that "an army of 750,000 for Canada's front-line war effort is a possibility within the next three years." No government which objects to fair and constructive criticism, of course, is worth its salt and should be turned out of office as rapidly as possible. And it will be a sad day for Canada when there is no effective opposition at Ottawa. But the letter of the critic to whom we have referred contains a few gems. Here is one:

"England is short of 1,000,000 trained and fully-equipped men for her campaigns in the southeast. Having lamentably failed her Polish allies and seen Rumania, which she had guaranteed, turn away from her and en-brace Hitler, she was later unable to save Yugoslavia and Greece, when they cried out for effective aid... still, the thing could have been done if only the governments of the Empire had shown the proper perspicacity."

Then the burden of the correspondent's complaint emerges: "While our government lacks the necessary foresight and prided themselves as being in the forefront of appeasers, Mr. W. D. Herridge, although outside the ministry (also outside Parliament—this addition is ours), was able to read the signs on the wall" three years ago.

So did Mr. Churchill, although out of the ministry; he could do little but warn. And what does the writer of the letter to the Citizen suppose the people of Canada would have said if, as he suggests, the government had gone ahead with preparations, in April, 1937, for an army of 750,000 men? Did not the top-notchers in the appeasement business—the bringers of "peace in our time"—dwell and have their being in the British which "lamentably failed her Polish allies?"

Yes, but note this from the Ottawa daily's correspondent: "If we had had more Herridges in the ministry, Mr. Gardiner would have right now his 1,000,000 Canadian warriors to throw into the battle for democracy, or for a system that would bring the greater good to the greater number." But on March 26, 1940, the electors of Kindersley, Sask., had other ideas about the suitability of Mr. Herridge to represent them in Parliament. They chose a supporter of Mr. King.

Berlin Alarmed

BERLINERS ARE EVIDENTLY BECOMING really alarmed as they hear more of the visits of the Royal Air Force to Germany. They are now officially instructed to go to air raid shelters immediately because "the enemy's new-type weapon has a severe effect." The Reich's capital's Air Defence Command has discovered that hitherto citizens had taken to protective cover only after anti-aircraft artillery had gone into operation. As a result of this waiting "there have been a great number of bomb victims."

British reports of recent air operations against Germany have described the devastating effects of the new superbomb—which, so we are informed, contains an unidentified explosive at least five times as destructive as that used until the new device made its appearance a few weeks ago. But the latest instruction must sound a harsh note in those German ears into which Goering had dinned his cocksure guarantee that no Royal Air Force raiders would ever penetrate into the heart of Germany—let alone disturb the slumbers of Berliners. Judging by attacks in the Ruhr and Rhine valleys in recent nights, Britain's flying men are now expanding their work with appropriate effectiveness.

Gap Filled

APPOINTMENT OF A PRESS-LIAISON officer at the Canadian Legation is considered by Washington correspondents to be a step in the right direction. There long has been a need for someone at the Legation who can talk to newspaper men in their own language. The appointment of Paul Reading, a working newspaper man who has had previous experience in his calling in Washington and who, at the same time, knows Canada thoroughly, should improve immeasurably the relations between the legation and the newspapers.

The complaint against the Canadian Legation has been that it follows too closely the Oxonian traditions of the well-groomed young men of the British Foreign Office. A noncommunicativeness tinged with aloofness has caused many correspondents to shy away from the Dominion headquarters. After all, there are many other and apparently friendlier sources of news in Washington.

The new minister, Mr. Leighton McCarthy, is regarded as a good fellow, despite the failure of his first press conference. That failure is attributed in some quarters to the possibility that Mr. McCarthy had not at that time any great or specific knowledge of the Canadian war effort and perhaps was under restrictions as to what he could tell. In any event, what was needed was someone at the legation who knew the kind of thing the newspaper correspondents wanted and who would be co-operative. Through Paul Reading it is hoped that not only will the United States newspapers be able to serve their readers better, but the pro-British and pro-Canadian newspapers—the great majority—will be able to further the great cause by being able to tell their readers more about Canada.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S FAILURE

From Vancouver Sun

Colonel Ralston, a brave soldier of the last war, a great minister of state and a man trusted by everyone, assures Parliament that his voluntary recruiting campaign is succeeding. We must accept that statement.

But the campaign obviously is succeeding without the help of British Columbia. Here the campaign is failing ignominiously. If it succeeds in the nation as a whole, other provinces will have to supply more than their quota of recruits to make up for British Columbia's deficiency.

What has happened in British Columbia everyone is at a loss to explain. Our boys simply refuse to join the army—a strange condition indeed in a province which has always considered itself more British and more patriotic than any other part of the country. One is forced at last to accept the reports of those who have traveled all over the nation and tell us that British Columbia, being farther away from it, does not feel the danger, the stress and the responsibility of the war as keenly as other provinces do. This is a serious statement to make. We would not have made it a month ago. But what other explanation can one give for the failure of the recruiting campaign here while it is succeeding elsewhere?

STRANGE TRIUMPH

AN AMERICAN PROFESSOR has been exploring the origins of our age and has decided that its architects are none other than Charles Darwin, Richard Wagner and Karl Marx, and not Hitler and Stalin as we had supposed. A writer in the Vancouver Sun eagerly accepts this idea and sets out to show that Darwin destroyed the value of the human soul, Marx destroyed the value of the individual man and Wagner set them both to music.

It is an interesting theory; and more interesting to realize how we daily accept into our lives and let them become the very centre of our thinking ideas whose origin we never seek to ascertain. The local prophet who sees in the war nothing but a struggle of economic forces does not stop to realize that he is merely plagiarizing Marx, who is much able to set out the same idea than he is. The young anarchist who lives only to have a good time and imagines he is a very original and bold thinker does not know that he is merely echoing the discovery of Darwin that man is an accident of nature and of no permanent importance.

These men unleashed ideas into the world and they have been more dangerous than Hitler's bombs—are, in fact, the creator of Hitler and all he stands for. The opposite ideas, long idle and lazy and fat from easy living, are now rousing themselves just before it is too late. And an opposite idea along is strong enough to grapple with Darwin, Marx and Co. Until that idea asserts itself fully, armies, navies and air forces will not be enough.

Ideas are strong stuff and, like delayed action bombs, often blow up in the queerest places. Who would have thought that Marx would have blown up in the form of Hitler, who pretended to be the chief enemy of Marx's whole theory? Who would have thought that Joe Stalin would be one of the chief prophets of Darwinism and the unimportance of the individual? Men will take great care about their food and worry endlessly about what they put into their mouths; but they will accept indigestible and poisonous ideas almost without a protest, if they are dressed up respectfully and wear white beards.

TOLERANCE

BUT THIS IS becoming a more tolerant age. Or at least so I judge by the public acceptance of Lord Nelson's personal life as depicted on the screen. Audiences all over America sympathize entirely with Lady Hamilton and nobody has a word of sympathy for Lady Nelson.

This tolerance is excellent when it is thoroughly understood that while the head of the navy may keep a mistress and raise an extra-mural family, this is to be accepted as an exception to the rule only, and something tolerated only because of the gentleman's eminence and services to the state. Our great grandfathers understood this and the Nelsons, married and unmarried, seem to have got along all right. But in America we haven't learned the subtle distinction between tolerance and anarchy so that, while an admiral's romance did no damage to English society, nowadays the same sort of habits threaten the whole fabric of North American life.

Instead of being tolerated, and thoroughly understood as a permissible exception, adultery has now become admired and praised; hardly any important figure on the screen is complete without it, and divorce is half expected when marriage is contracted. What we don't realize is that we have not earned, with a score of victories, the right to undermine society. John Doe at Reno ought to remember that he is not Nelson at Trafalgar.

THE TAX GOAT

From Financial News

Provincial administrations in Canada collected nearly $80,000,000 from automobile owners in 1939, the latest year for which figures are available. This was derived from gasoline taxes, registration fees and drivers' permits. The main source, of course, was the gasoline tax which contributed $51,954,360 of the total. This was an increase of 26 per cent over the previous year due principally to the jumping of the tax in Ontario and Quebec from six to eight cents per gallon on April 1, 1939. Revision in Saskatchewan tax schedules increased gasoline revenues of that province by nearly $1,000,000 or 51 per cent.

Automobile owners would feel better about that $80,000,000 if they felt that most of it was being employed to smooth out some of Canada's road surfaces. Their 1940 contribution was probably closer to $100,000,000 than $80,000,000.

In British Columbia there are now approximately 126,000 motor vehicles registered. In all Canada at the end of 1939 there were 1,439,245 motor vehicles registered, including 1,190,021 passenger cars, 231,474 trucks, 2,644 buses, 12,322 motorcycles, 1,148 tractors, 305 ambulances and hearses, and 752 cranes, service cars, etc. There is a motor vehicle for every 7.9 persons.

There is a tendency for provincial governments to regard automobile owners primarily as a lucrative source of revenue but there will come a time when progressive increases in gasoline taxes and miscellaneous charges against motor vehicles will result in smaller instead of greater revenues. Then the administration which cuts the levies to a fair basis, makes life easier for the motorist instead of more difficult, spends a fair proportion of auto and gasoline revenues on roads, will reap the advantages, both in revenues and in good will. Which will be the first to inaugurate such a far-sighted program?

AIR SUPREMACY—WHEN?

HOWEVER much people may differ on ways and means most likely to win this war they are likely to agree on one thing: That we cannot really turn the tide till we achieve complete air supremacy over the Germans.

Exactly how difficult is this task? Outside of a small handful of people in Britain, the United States and Germany nobody knows. In other words, the only people who really know won't tell.

We do know, however, the exact rate of plane production in North America. We have the reports of Lord Beaverbrook's papers in London giving good clues as to British production. And we can at least consider what reports we do have from Germany.

The United States produced in May, 1941, a total of 1,334 war planes of all kinds. This includes about half primary training planes of no value for actual fighting, or for anything but teaching young fliers the rudiments of aviation.

FIGURES

Britain produced, according to the estimate of the London Express, in April, the last month for which we have record, about 3,200 airplanes.

Canada produced, not "about 360," the number so loosely bandied about, but a total of 161 plane frames without engines. This is somewhat less than half the number promised a year ago as being the likely production at this time. Ronald A. Keith, editor of Canada Aviation, points out that Canadian production will decline and not increase numerically in the next few months because the factories producing primary trainers have filled all the orders and are now free to turn to other work.

This is a reminder that mere numbers do not tell the real story. What counts in the war is the number of actual pilots with good planes we can put on one of the fighting fronts. The ability of our factories to turn from the production of trainers to that of fighters and bombers is all to the good.

To sum up, we have the word of the president of the aviation branch of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce that total plane production by and for the democracies has surpassed for the first time the total produced in one month by Germany, and countries overrun by her.

GERMAN RIDDLE

The May production of planes by Germany is supposed to have been lower than for many months. There are varying explanations of that fact. One is that the Germans know that their planes are now so badly outclassed by the British that they are forced to alter designs drastically—and to re-tool whole plants. This process, as we have found to our chagrin on this continent takes much time. It is also said that British bombing of German aircraft factories has been so effective that the Nazis are killing two birds with one stone. They are both producing new models, and transferring whole plants to other safer districts.

HOLD OUT THIS YEAR

It would be easy to overestimate our temporary advantage. Wythe Williams, who is sometimes uncannily accurate about happenings in Germany, and sometimes utterly wrong, reports that German production for April reached an all-time high of 6,720. People who were in close touch with French aviation tell me that France has accumulated stores of some thousands of airplane engines which fell into the hands of the Nazis and which will sooner or later be used on planes fighting for Germany.

It would be silly to assume that Britain and the U.S. are therefore going to have an easy task in the overtaking Germany even in the matter of net monthly production. For within a few months Germany will have co-ordinated the productive power of a whole continent. Nevertheless, there is reason to believe that if we can hold out this year, we can definitely turn the tide in 1942, and have a good chance of sweeping the skies clean in 1943.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "The plumber welded the two pipes together."

2. What is the correct pronunciation of "dictator"?

3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Hereditary, hell-trooper, humorous.

4. What does the word "collaborator" mean?

5. What is a word beginning with (i) (noun) that means "a route; record of a journey"?

Answers

1. Together is redundant. Weld means to unite, or bring together. 2. Preferred pronunciation is with accent on second syllable. 3. Hereditary. 4. One who works jointly, as in writing a book. "His wife was his collaborator in the preparation of the manuscript." 5. Itinerary.

Frank Paulding Asks for Sacrifice

Reviewing the first 10 days of the Victory Loan effort, two points impress the interested onlooker, Frank Paulding, adviser to the Victory Loan campaign, said today when making an appeal to citizens to sacrifice in order to put the loan over the top.

"Two openings to action are evident: Those that arise from the stirring of our emotions, and those that develop from a realistic study of the situation," Mr. Paulding said.

"Dealing with the former we find an intense emotional loyalty in Canadians to deep patriotic sentiments, which in turn are founded on national religion and idealistic motivations. We are proud of our Empire and its component racial strains. We believe in Christianity and justice, righteousness, truth and liberty.

"Viewing the situation realistically there are three aspects that spring to our attention," Mr. Paulding said. "The positive danger to our Empire caused by Axis successes and the necessity of overcoming this situation by every means in our power. And in this connection—if the Germans could go without butter so that bullets could be molded, then

Signal Corps Here Army's Nerve System

By KEN SCACE

Young men anxious to play a vital part in this war will find the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals one of the most important and most interesting services in the modern Canadian Army.

The Corps of Signals supplies the communication system of the army. It creates and maintains that intricate network of communications that enables the brain centre of the army to direct its every movement. At whatever cost, the system must be maintained intact, and so it is that the young men of the Corps of Signals are charged with the greatest responsibility given to any one unit of the army. Signals must go through, not only from the army command to the division, the regiment and battalions, but back from them to the army centre so that every operation may be completely co-ordinated.

To the average person signals brings a mental picture of wiggling flags on the top of a hill (and an excellent target). Communications in the army of today have so far advanced that visual signals have become almost obsolete, giving way to a vast network of communications by radio, telephone and telegraph. The radio has completely revolutionized army operations. The Corps of Signals maintains an amazingly efficient, up-to-the-minute system of radio communication, employing in the field, self-contained mobile units that enable the army command to keep in constant touch with each of its many branches no matter where they may be.

Example Here

In the communications system of the Pacific Coast defences there is an excellent example of the elaborate network operated by the 11th Fortress Signal Coy. R.C.C.S., of which Major B. Gwynne is officer commanding. By radio and alternatively by land and submarine cable, military headquarters is linked with every strategic point of Vancouver Island.

The command exchange links up all fortresses, searchlight batteries and other defence posts. It is the fighting exchange of the Pacific Coast defences. Let us take an example as to how it might operate. A fire commander in an outer fort sights a submarine entering the Strait. By phone from his observation post he immediately is in touch with all his battery commanders and every unit of the defence system is automatically on the alert. In a moment a co-ordinated plan of defence is decided upon with each battery commander knowing his specific job. At night time the searchlight commanders are automatically included in the brief wire conference. During the complete action until the all-clear, each commander knows exactly the progress of the operation as it takes place, no matter how many miles apart.

Alternative System

If a chance bomb or shell should break a main telephone cable, alternative cables are there to carry on automatically. If the telephone exchange is blown to bits the radio stations automatically come into action. Should this supposed bombing and shelling destroy the radio stations the Corps of Signals immediately sends out its fast mobile radio units to maintain the vital system of communications. The consecutive steps of communications have been all carefully planned and worked out and would function regardless of the circumstances.

But that isn't the whole story. There are so many alternative means of communication that an army could not hope to disrupt them all. As a last resort the Corps of Signals will provide highly trained motorcycle dispatch riders, and finally runners. Whatever happens the message will go through.

The Corps of Signals is a unit of highly skilled experts. It is even more than that. It is a great training centre, schooling youngsters in every phase of communications and electrical work. Aptitude tests are given new recruits so that they may be allocated to the section of training in which they will be most valuable, and incidentally most happy. They are carefully trained as linesmen, as radio, landline and switchboard operators, as electricians, as radio technicians attending to all necessary equipment repairs, as instrument mechanics, as carpenters and as dispatch riders. More other highly skilled trades taught in the corps, also, are those of acetylene and electrical welding and cable splicing, jobs that bring pay of at least $250 a month in civilian life.

Drafts Supplied

"We have supplied drafts for service overseas," Major B. Gwynne, officer commanding No. 11 Fortress Company, says. "Drafts composed of lads who had never done a trick before. Youngsters who knew nothing of electrical work, but who showed that they had the right stuff in them. When the war is over they will be able to command first-class jobs at high rates of pay. What they learn in the Signal Corps will be invaluable to them all their lives."

SEWER SCHEME
BEING STUDIED

Possible drainage of the Dean Heights area of Saanich by connection with the northeast main trunk sewer is being given further study, the Oak Bay Council was told yesterday by Municipal Engineer A. S. G. Musgrave.

The council received a request from Saanich for information on the charges for such a connection.

Members voted to give up three small trophy guns at the request of the National Defence Department, to be used for scrap metal.

A letter was received from Finance Minister J. L. Hilsley asking co-operation in the Victory Loan campaign.

"I would ask you to urge upon your employees and officials the vital necessity of their organizing to give the fullest possible measure of support to this loan," the minister said.

J. Vaughan Roberts was reappointed municipal representative on the board of directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital. A letter was received from Queen Alexandra Solarium thanking the council for an appropriation of $100.

The council decided to ask the police chief for a full report on need for additional stop signs in Oak Bay, following receipt of a petition for a stop sign on Central Avenue at Victoria Avenue.

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP)—George Dudley, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said yesterday a wire vote of the executive has authorized a $10,000 subscription by the C.A.H.A. to the Victory Loan.

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Braves last night broke up the Waner brother's outfield combination by trading the 35-year-old Lloyd to Cincinnati Reds for John (Hutch) Hutchings, 24-year-old right-hand pitcher. Secretary John Quinn said the deal was on a player-for-player basis.

Recruiting Group
To Meet Monday

The Victoria citizens' recruiting committee will meet on Monday afternoon to hear reports on work undertaken to date and plan further activities to stimulate the interest of young men in joining the Active Army.

In view of slow recruiting on the mainland, the Vancouver citizens' committee at its last meeting decided to form an executive action committee to meet daily and press the campaign. Arrangements were made to place recruiting drive speakers on radio programs.

With the Forces

R.C.A.F. Booklet

The Royal Canadian Air Force has published a new booklet designed to interest thousands of young Canadians in joining the service and taking to wings as air crewmen.

"Canada is making a heavy investment in its air-minded sons in the knowledge that the destiny of this Dominion is linked with aviation," a foreword to the booklet says. "Well-trained men are needed now for the defence of the country in the air, and when hostilities are over many will find their way into the development of Canada through commercial aviation."

Steps in the training of pilots, observers and wireless operator-air gunners are outlined, from training depot to service flying training school, air navigation school or bombing and gunnery school. The flying teams produced are termed the greatest Canada has ever turned out.

The booklet provides information on entry into the force, and on scales of pay.

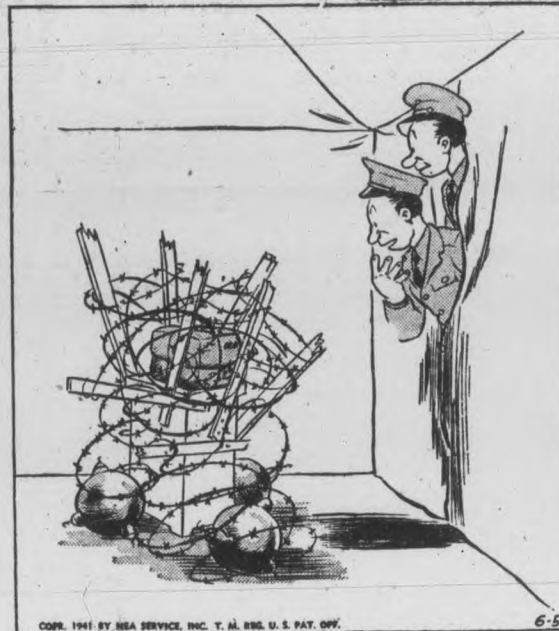

Leading aircraftmen, to which rank air crew members are raised soon after training is started, get $1.50 a day. In addition, prospective pilots and observers get 75 cents a day special allowance.

As sergeants at the conclusion of training, pilots and observers get $3.70 a day; wireless operator-air gunners $3.20, and air gunners $2.95. Meals, quarters and complete clothing are provided.

Officers' pay ranges from $6.25 a day for pilot officers to $9.75 a day for squadron leaders.

'Y' Hut Opened

More than 800 soldiers and their officers packed the new Y.M.C.A. hut at Nanaimo military camp when it was officially opened Wednesday night with a concert presented by the Red Triangle concert party from Victoria.

Adding variety to the program were imitations by Vanda Hudson, who returned recently from London, where she appeared on the stage and radio. Miss Hudson's home is in Victoria.

People in the News

'Final Victory Ours'

BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ANTHONY EDEN, in a broadcast to South America, said "however long or arduous, harsh or chequered the course of this war may be, no one in this country doubts final victory will be ours. It will be certain and it will be decisive."

Addressed specifically to British communities in Latin America, Mr. Eden said "already we can see the day approaching when preponderance in the air will be ours. As for the Battle of the Atlantic, Hitler has made the boast he would cut our lifeline to America, yet since the boast was made, sinkings of merchant marine have not increased, though losses of his own submarines and aircraft have mounted steadily."

"Great and generous assistance" which Britain is receiving from the United States "makes allied victory a mathematical certainty."

No Parley,
No Compromise!

ARTHUR GREENWOOD, British minister without portfolio, in a trans-Atlantic broadcast, said he felt sure union workers of the United States would participate fully "in America's defence of democracy while labor over here stands and fights for our common liberties and our common hope for the future."

A leader of the British Labor Party, Mr. Greenwood said Britain intended to fight the war to a victorious end and "there will be neither parley nor compromise."

Otto Visiting Canada

ARCHDUKE OTTO of Austria was honored at a dinner in New York by Prince and Princess Francis J. Windischgratz. Otto is today en route to Winnipeg on a tour of Austrian and Hungarian settlements in western Canada.

'Fight, Work, Lend'

Indian Chief Poking Fire smoked his pipe of peace before a hushed crowd of 16,000 in Molson Stadium, Montreal, but Maj. Gen. L. R. LaFleche told the Victory Loan rally there will be no peace unless Canadians "fight, work and lend—or die."

In midfield Poking Fire, with 60 braves and squaws, blew smoke of peace to the four corners of the earth and then a fifth puff to the great white chief over the waters.

Solemnly he led his band down the field to where Mayor Adhemar Raynault of Montreal awaited to present for delivery to Prime Minister Churchill a scroll bearing an Iroquois prayer.

'Appeasement Policy'

PREMIER MITCHELL F. HEPBURN of Ontario said in St. Thomas: "Canadians must not be satisfied with believing in the invincibility of the British Empire but must do their part to make that invincibility certain."

He spoke of recent wheat shipments to Japan as part of a "policy of appeasement" towards Japan, said labor leaders who "interrupt the production of vital war materials" are "as guilty of murder before the bar of justice as the German pilot who, once in command of the air, bombs and kills civilian populations."

"There is no use disguising the fact we cannot finance this war without sacrifice and by sharply reducing our standards of living and our costs of governmental services."

He said Canada must become a united nation to prosecute the war.

"I think everyone knows I am not in sympathy with the Ottawa government, its policies, its lack of war effort and its present appeasement policy toward Japan, but I have confidence in the power of public sentiment which, if once aroused, becomes the greatest driving force in democracy."

NANAIMO — More than 200 school children will write first aid examinations here this year in connection with the St. John Ambulance Association, J. B. Litch reported to the Nanaimo School Board.

The successful candidates will receive St. John Ambulance Association certificates.

Nanaimo leads the schools of the province in the first aid achievement, he said. The Department of Education notified the board that it would assume 50 per cent of costs up to $300 of a rifle range for cadet practice, which the board expects to have ready for use by September.

The board awarded contracts totaling $3,800 to local firms for school repairs and will call for tenders for further work.

Health Evening Is Enjoyed at 'Y'

Nearly 100 girls listened with interest to the speakers on what is hoped to be the first of a series of health education meetings held at the Y.W.C.A. last night under the auspices of the Senior Girls' Council. Miss Kay Cameron presided.

"Keeping in Step With Health" was the evening's slogan, and Miss P. E. Capelle of the Vancouver General Hospital clinic, who spoke on the prevention of social diseases; Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, and Dr. Cull of the Provincial Board of Health, who showed moving pictures, all emphasized the how and why of clinics and how to use them.

Miss Francis Borde of the provincial recreation staff, assisted by Mrs. Judy Hibberd, gave an interesting demonstration of posture in its relation to health. A series of interesting posters and charts were also arranged around the room, adding much to the value of the talks. Miss B. Dickens moved the vote of thanks to the speakers, and Miss Charlotte Crawford led a sing-song in which the health theme was cleverly introduced into the songs.

Following the program, coffee was served in the lounge by the girls of the Enterprise Club.

BUTLER-HARDY

DUNN-CREECH

Roses, delphiniums and spirea, arranged by girl friends of the bride, made a pretty background for the wedding in the Church of Our Lord last evening at 8 of Muriel May, youngest daughter of R. K. Creech, 1742 Pembroke Street, and the late Mrs. Creech. To Writer Harry Rodney Dunn, R.C.N.V.R., younger son of the late Mr. L. B. Dunn and Mrs. Dunn, 530 Rithet Street. Rev. G. H. Shandley sang "Because" as the register was being signed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, and inset at the waistline with lace which extended in panels to the end of the train. home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Gordon, 1956 Ash Street, during which the couple stood beneath a floral arch in a room bright with flowers. Mrs. Gordon welcomed the guests in an orchid taffeta gown with beige accessories, assisted by the bridesgroom's mother, who was dressed in green flowered sheer with grey accessories, and both wore corsage bouquets of roses. The three-tiered wedding cake centred the lace-covered table, flanked with silver vases of rosebuds and white tapers in silver holders. Mr. L. B. Noel, an old family friend, proposed the toast to the bride.

The young couple will make their home in Victoria. For the honeymoon on the mainland, the bride went away in a navy blue dressmaker suit with a Breton sailor hat and navy and white accessories. Mrs. G. L. Smith, Chilliwack, sister of the groom, and Mrs. C. Trotter of Duncan, were guests at the wedding.

BAKER-MILLS

At a pretty ceremony in St. Barnabas Church last evening, Canon N. E. Smith united in marriage Alberta Doreen, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Mills, 3260 Quadra Street, and Mr. Ralph Mortimer Baker, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Baker, Nanaimo. Mrs. R. E. V. Yerburch presided at the organ, and the choir led the hymns, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given away by her father, and wore a full-skirted frock of white sheer, with a train, long pointed sleeves, a tight waist and a full draped bodice caught at the neck with a brilliant brooch, a gift from the bridegroom. Her floor-length veil of illusion net fell from a ruffled net coronet, with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, white carnations and sweet peas.

The bridesmaids were her cousins, Miss Yvonne Jones, Vancouver, in a frock of French blue sheer, and Miss Eileen Cross, Victoria, in rose sheer. The gowns were fashioned alike with long, full skirts and short, puff sleeves, and their chapel veils were caught into clusters of rose and blue flowers. Miss Jones carried a bouquet of rose gladioli and pale pink carnations, and Miss Cross carried blue delphinium and pink carnations in their mottled hands. Mr. Norman Baker was best man, and to pews tied with bows of pink tulle the guests were shown by Mr. Stanley Jackson and Mr. Thomas McKeachie.

About 140 guests were welcomed at the reception at the home of the bride's parents, the young couple standing before a fireplace banked with pink and white flowers. Mrs. Mills welcomed the guests in a bolero frock of turquoise sheer, with a wide-brimmed black straw hat, white kid gloves and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations, and Mrs. Baker, who assisted her, was dressed in mauve sheer, with a matching hat and corsage bouquet of yellow roses. The supper table was covered with an Italian cutwork cloth and was centred with the three-tiered cake, set in folds of pink tulle edged with four white lighted tapers in silver holders.

After a honeymoon on the mainland, returning via Nanaimo Mr. and Mrs. Baker will make their home on Fernwood Road. For traveling the bride chose a smart beige and rose ensemble. In addition to the bridegroom's parents, out-of-town guests at the wedding included the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Jones and their daughter, Jacqueline, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Baker, with Peggy and Sheila, Nanaimo, and the bridegroom's uncle, Mr. Trevor Baker, San Francisco.

Prisoners of War Getting Parcels

The first postcards from British prisoners of war in Germany acknowledging receipt of Canadian Red Cross food parcels, packed at Chorley Park, Toronto, were received at the society's provincial headquarters yesterday, Mrs. F. W. Tuffrey, provincial commissioner, announced.

The cards, of which there were eight, give positive proof that prisoners of war parcels sent from Canada are reaching German camps, and being sent to British soldiers. The parcels were the first shipment to leave Toronto in January and the return postcards were mailed back to Canada from Germany in April. The delay in delivering food parcels was due to shipping difficulties at Lisbon.

British prisoners of war who acknowledged getting Canadian Red Cross food parcels were George Bruce, G. C. Duckworth, Rod Davey, all of Stalag XXID, L.-Corp. P. L. Brown and Gunner N. Routley.

To date 205,000 food parcels have been shipped from Toronto to New York, from which point they go to Lisbon, Marseilles and Geneva. International Red Cross officials handle the distribution to prison camps in Germany. Each camp elects a British spokesman who receives the parcels for all prisoners of war, and requires them to fill in the postcards which are enclosed in every box. These cards are given to the International Red Cross officials and mailed back to Canada from Geneva. The Canadian Red Cross is packing 10,000 food parcels a week at a cost of $1,500,000 a year.

Federated W.I. Plan United Front in War Service

FREDERICTON, N.B. (CP)—With a program built on the general theme of an "all-out" war service and a survey of achievements to date in the nation's emergency, the biennial convention of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada will be held here June 16-19 in conjunction with the annual convention of the New Brunswick Women's Institutes.

The Federated Institutes represent a membership of 76,000, mostly country women, of more than 3,000 branches from Prince Edward Island.

A presidential address of Mrs. H. McGregor of Penticton, B.C., will deal with the "Value of Women's Institutes as a National Defence."

Mrs. Alfred Watt of Montreal will speak. Topics of her addresses will be "Seeds for Britain" (she has been largely instrumental in gathering 14 tons for spring planting) and "Co-operation With United States Country Women's Organizations." Other speakers will include Dr. Charlotte Whitton, secretary of the Canadian Welfare Council, and Miss Edith L. Elliott of the Marketing Service of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

WAR OBJECTIVES

The agenda provides for discussion of several notable Women's Institute enterprises such as defence gifts to the government; co-operation with the Canadian Red Cross Society in making woolen comforts; hospital supplies and garments for men in service overseas and for civilian victims of bombing raids; Nova Scotia's "Garden Brigade"; Quebec and British Columbia's "Woolen Comforters."

Nationally-known Women's Institute leaders scheduled to contribute to these discussions include: Mrs. H. McGregor, national president; Mrs. T. J. McDowell, Milverton, Ont., F.W.I.C. first vice-president; Mrs. B. F. Gummow, Peachland, B.C., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Scott Trenholm, Grande Pre, N.S., recording secretary; Mrs. Harley Dunham, Havelock, N.B., treasurer; Miss Helen J. Macdougall, Truro, N.S., superintendent N.S. Women's Institutes; Miss Mary A. Clarke, Toronto, superintendent Ontario W.I.'s; and Mrs. J. F. Price, Vancouver vice-president B.C. Women's Institutes.

Committee reports will be discussed in the form of round tables in as many joint sessions as possible with the New Brunswick convention. National conveners include: Mrs. Fred McLaren, North River, P.E.I., Canadianization and immigration; Mrs. Guy Humphrey, Hampton, N.B., legislation; Mrs. W. B. # BRITISH COLUMBIA'S WAR EFFORT

In Canada's participation in the war, British Columbia is playing a major role. Its vast resources of timber, minerals, and foodstuffs place it in the very forefront of the War Effort.

Its position has improved immensely since 1914. Its population then was some 440,000; today it is 840,000. In 1914, production from its basic industries totaled $98,000,000. In 1940, the total was $247,700,000.

Lumber shipments to the United Kingdom amounted to more than one billion board feet, an all-time high. Mineral production was more than $74,000,000 and dividends were paid of nearly $13,000,000. Remarkable success attended the marketing of the apple crop, and the fisheries production was highly satisfactory.

Apart from its basic industries, its production of Manufactured Goods has increased fourfold. Its shipyards, foundries, and machine-shops are among the finest on this Continent.

All these industries are now busily engaged, and are mobilized, equipped and ready to adjust themselves instantly to any demands that may be made upon them.

In other regards, British Columbia moves in the van of war-time fiscal policy.

Substantial aid has been given by repayment of maturities, thus releasing almost $28,000,000 for investment in the War Effort. Further assistance has been given by withdrawing from the Income and Corporation Tax field, thus relieving the taxpayer to the extent of approximately $12,000,000.

Firms engaged in war work have been assisted by generous depreciation allowances. Municipalities are being given additional grants.

Resources are being sensibly managed, so that all can be brought to bear to the best advantage.

Public Works are being maintained. The training of youth is being vigorously pursued. Every facility that can be usefully employed is being placed at the disposal of the military authorities.

In these and other directions British Columbia is playing its part, and sustaining the enviable place which it enjoys in Canada's economic scheme.

Letters to the Editor

WHERE LEFT IS RIGHT

We had quite an argument in our cook-car this morning, the subject being: Which side of the road is the right side, for a pedestrian. I often walk down to the crossing to catch a bus and you can see people walking on both, right and left side. I could not get a bet on the result.

GEO. H. DICKSON.

Colwood.

(On all major highways, where there is no sidewalk, the rule now is, wherever possible, to walk on the side so that you face the traffic, rather than having the traffic overtake you from the rear. As road traffic keeps to the right, you would always walk at your left of the road. Ed.)

DOGS IN MOTORS

I wish people owning dogs would not leave them shut up in practically closed cars, where they bark and howl in the hope of attracting a little sympathy and help. One's distress at watching them is a bagatelle compared to the discomfort they endure. Could the thoughtless owners replace their victims for a few hours at a time, and under similar conditions, they might learn something from the best of teachers—experience.

DORA KITTO.

315 Seallard Building.

NO MORE "BOMBED-OUT" KITS

The "Bombed-Out Kit" committee have been advised by the Red Cross authorities that owing to the need for economy and for carelessness in war work efforts they would ask that the sending of "bombed-out kits" be discontinued, and that the money intended for these boxes be given direct to the Red Cross. Most of the contents of a "bombed-out kit" are considered necessities, and because of this fact the Canadian Red Cross are buying them in great quantities. It would, therefore, be to the advantage of the country if the energies directed into the hitherto acceptable work of "bombed-out kit" sending were now given to the main Red Cross endeavor.

The "bombed-out kit" scheme when originated did not necessitate consideration of this point, which has been raised recently after thoroughly studying ways and means of utilizing to the best advantage the energies of the war-working public. The Victoria Red Cross have sent through their distributing rooms approximately 800 of these small boxes for the comfort and relief of air raid sufferers in Britain. Over $250 has been given for purchasing supplies. All who have made this possible are sincerely thanked. What they have done is not wasted, only it is hoped that in future that enthusiasm and help which has meant so much will, for the good of the whole, be diverted into more effective channels.

It is asked that any supplies now on hand be turned in to the committee in charge of the "bombed-out kits" as soon as possible, so that the remaining boxes can be made up and dispatched.

Any money remaining after the present work is completed will be given to the Victoria and District Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

If there is anything not made clear regarding this matter, further explanation will gladly be given by Mrs. Dudley Green at Empire 5750, or by the undersigned, at Garden 4871.

RECRUITING LAG

It is apparent that neither the government nor the opposition wants conscription.

Why do not the employers of skilled and unskilled laborers advise these men they should offer their services for enlistment, or else they must leave their employment?

I blame employers all over Canada for holding up recruiting. This applies to cabinet ministers, heads of banks, insurance and transportation companies, stores and many other concerns, large and small. Wake up, employers! Do your duty! Lord Beaverbrook told you on Sunday last they wanted more men. It is up to you to act now.

REG CARDOM,

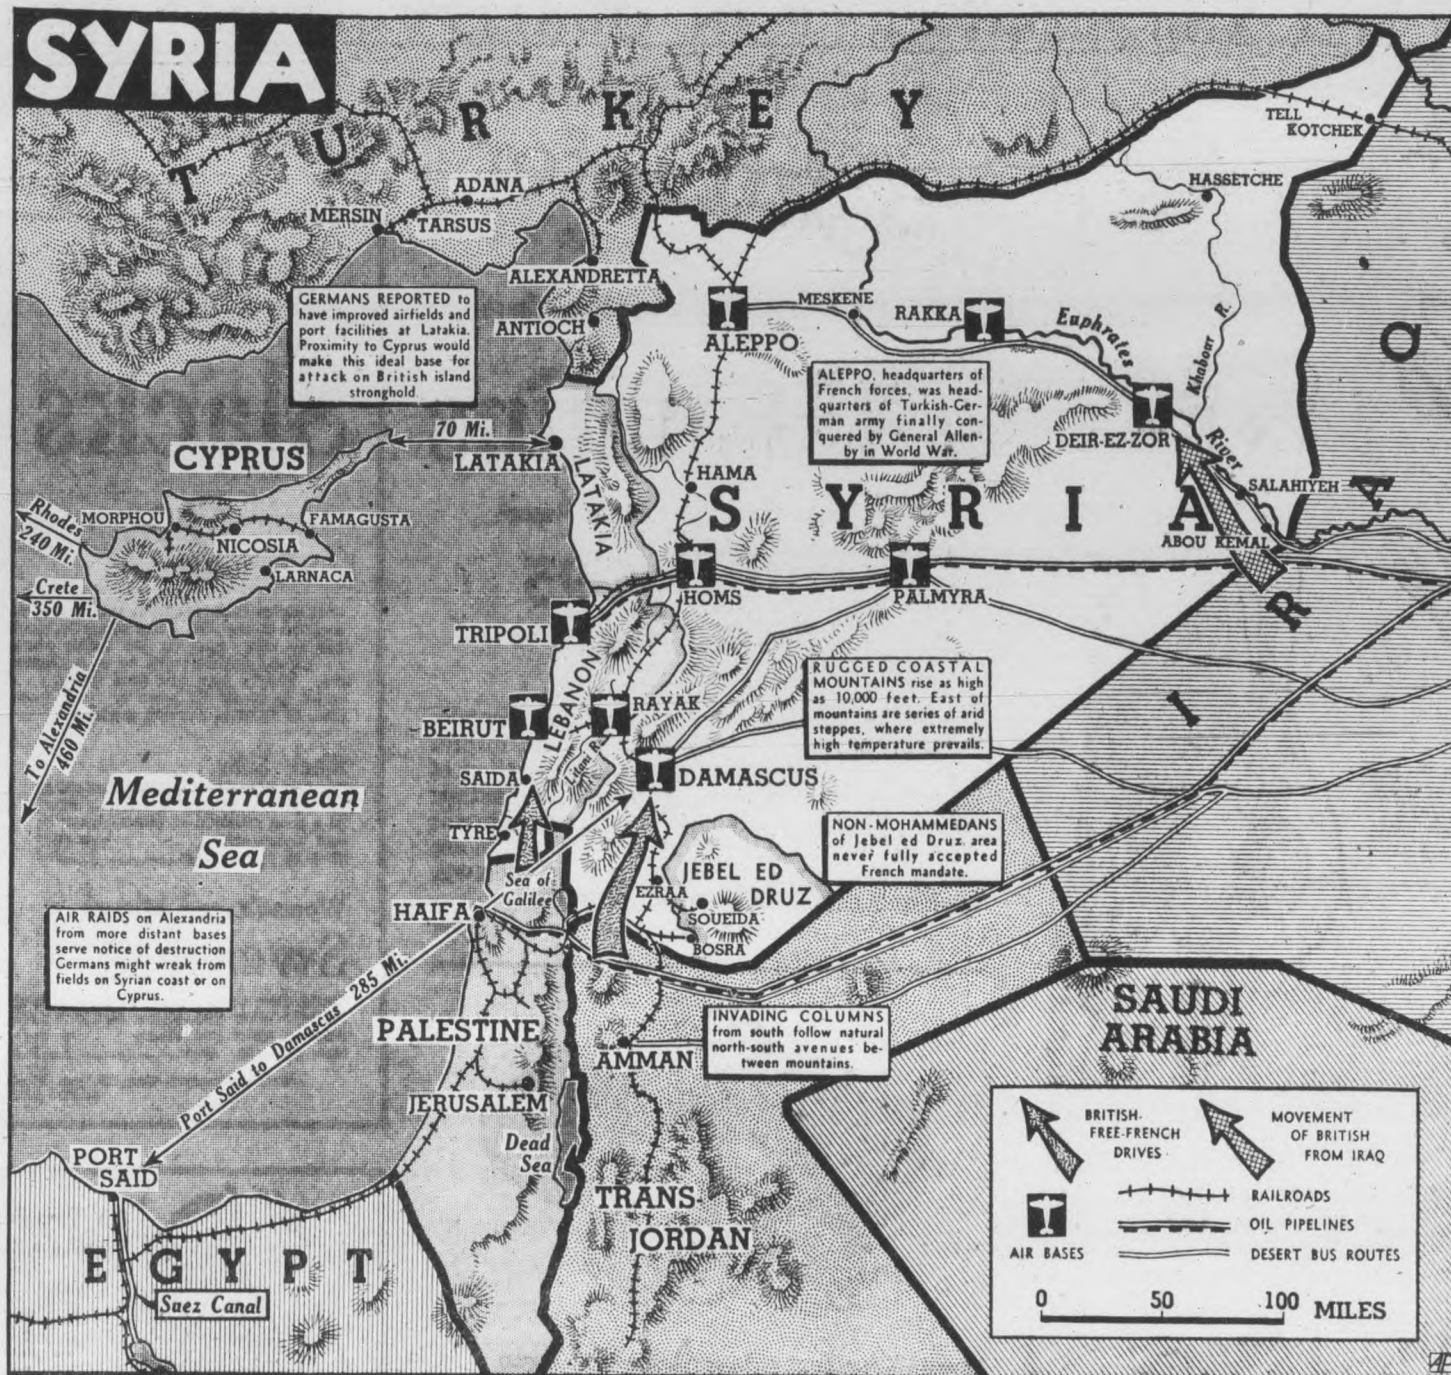

1006 Chamberlain Street.

A.R.P. AND JANITORS

At the Victoria School Board meeting a complaint was read from Capt. William Ellis, civil protection officer, concerning an account received from a school janitor for attendance on A.R.P. meetings. Capt. Ellis stated that janitors should be willing to give their time free to this work like the A.R.P. wardens. It was said that if Capt. Ellis believed in this principle, then his stenographer should become a lady warden and give her time free. What infantile rubbish!

If the authorities wish us to continue as wardens they should

SYRIA

The British-Free French drive in Syria, a six-spearhead campaign, came as no surprise to military men. Necessity dictated invasion.

This French-mandated territory could serve as a tactical base for operations against the Suez Canal region and the oil fields in Iraq, both objectives of great importance to Britain.

Reports told of Axis forces landing at Latakia; there were numerous reports that German army men, disguised as tourists, were infiltrating into strategic posts in Syria. It was not denied have the decency to pay, not cheapen us by quibbling about such small matters as janitors' fees for attendance at A.R.P. meetings.

On behalf of said janitors I might mention that when first aid classes are being held they are in attendance five nights per month. Surely out of the government grant and contributions from four municipalities there should be sufficient funds to meet janitors' fees.

Janitors, being the employees of the school board, should be absorbed by the school authorities for the protection of the school children in the event of any untoward emergency, and therefore not eligible for wardens.

W. F. LOVELAND,
District Warden, Sec. 2A.

WHY AND WHEN

A friend remarked that the war might re-establish religion, the world's only hope. In Saturday's Times, Sir Richard Acland, English Liberal M.P., is quoted as saying: "The whole structure of society is, from the Christian point of view, rotten. It has given Hitler the opportunity to say 'To hell with the whole order.' In order to save humanity from the horror of Nazism we must find a way of living superior not merely to Nazism but to that which we ourselves knew before. You must be prepared to offend people who are determined to preserve the existing order."

Then why do we not begin to consider the prerequisites?
F. C. FRAZEE,
Brentwood Bay.

that German airplanes, en route to aid the now routed Rashid Ali in the Iraqi uprising, landed and fueled at Syrian air bases.

Syria rises sharply from the Mediterranean, to heights of 10,000 feet. Eastward, the terrain falls away in a series of steps to the Euphrates. The advantage of a "downhill pull" lies with the army that invades Iraq from Syria.

Syria is cut by several marked north-south depressions. In the last war, Gen. Allenby's troops fought along these deep gullies in the battles for Jerusalem and Damascus.

Were Syria in Axis hands, those north-south depressions could serve as routes for invasion of Palestine and the Suez area.

There is a pipeline terminus from the Mosul-Kirkuk oil fields at Tripoli in Syria. If the Axis invaded Syria, and from there could successfully thrust into the oil fields, it conceivably could replenish its oil stocks at the pipeline terminus. Certainly the task of transporting the oil to Italy and thence to Germany would be lightened by control of the northern waters of the Mediterranean, bastioned by control of Crete.

Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber and Mrs. Hamber yesterday visited Mrs. J. Quinn, who is popularly known as Mother Quinn among the sailors at Esquimalt, and saw the work she and her husband are doing at their home at 1331 Esquimalt Road in the collecting of reading material for the boys in blue in barracks and on ships.

In the picture Mrs. Quinn is showing Mr. and Mrs. Hamber a pile of magazines ready to be taken down to the navy barracks for the reading room.

The Lieutenant-Governor and his lady saw thousands and thousands of magazines of all kinds and bound books by the dozen piled in the living-room and hall of Mr. and Mrs. Quinn's home. Mrs. Quinn also had a number of packs of playing cards, dart boards, phonograph records and a phonograph which were given her for the Esquimalt sailors. She told her distinguished visitors that all the magazines and books collected were first censored and then sorted, tied in bundles and distributed to the ships and barracks. She said she was doing the work, which was greatly appreciated by the navy boys, under the auspices of the I.O.D.E. Mrs. K. C. Symons, regent of the municipal chapter of the I.O.D.E., was on hand to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Hamber with Mrs. Quinn.

Mrs. Quinn went on to tell her guests that last month she and her husband made 752 calls throughout the city collecting magazines and books. Many people brought bundles of magazines to her house also, she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamber were accompanied on the visit by their secretaries, A. M. D. Fairbairn and Mrs. Mae Rice.

The oases in the Syrian desert along the old caravan route to Baghdad can be of utmost importance to mechanized operations.

The British forces moving up the Euphrates toward Deir-ez-Zor and Palmyra probably aim to control these waterholes, as "insurance" against possible Nazi troop movements, and to permit further British operations in the area if necessary.

Syria is a conglomeration of peoples. Kurds, Armenians, Syrians, Arabs and Druses mingle in the population of roughly 3,000,000. The populace has no reason to remember Germans with friendly feelings. In the last war, Syria was swept by starvation, as Turko-German troops stripped the country.

The British have a definite advantage in the Syrian theatre in that their airplanes are closer to base—for the first time in this war—than Axis flying forces. Warplanes from Axis bases on Crete and Rhodes must fly much farther than R.A.F. planes based in Trans-Jordan and Palestine. In their invasion of Crete, German fliers had the closer bases, and the reversal of the situation is in British favor here.

The battle of Verdun has broken out with unusual violence on the east bank of the Meuse. German troops have renewed their attack along the whole front west of Thiaumont Farm.

The Bantams, who are encamped at Beacon Hill Park, made their first public recruiting parade through the streets of the city today and were received with great enthusiasm by thousands of people.

Victorians will vote tomorrow on the weekly half holiday, deciding whether it will be Wednesday or Saturday.

Malcolm MacDonald, British High Commissioner to Canada, will address the Men's Canadian Club at luncheon, Monday noon, at the Empress Hotel.

John Cochrane, chairman of the speakers' committee, received this wire this morning from Winnipeg: "Very pleased to speak at your luncheon." It is expected the title of his address will be "Total War."

Mr. MacDonald, son of the late Ramsay MacDonald, and a former member of the Churchill cabinet, will arrive here Sunday and leave for Vancouver on Tuesday.

The Canadian Club luncheon will be for members only and tickets may be procured at Cochrane's Drug Store.

Hundreds Kiss Torch As Sacred Symbol

OTTAWA—Sub-Lieut. John D. McRae of the Royal Canadian Navy, who is a member of the three-man honor guard accompanying Canada's Victory Loan Torch on its flight across Canada, arrived in Ottawa today convinced that the Torch, symbolic of Canada's loyal determination to fight on until victory has been won, has done more to rouse the nation to its task than anything since the outbreak of war.

"The Torch is something more than a shining symbol to highlight parades," he said. "Since we left Victoria late last month we have taken part in 33 parades. Our original schedule called for 30 parades all across Canada. Every city insists on seeing the Torch and keeping it in their possession as long as possible. Sometimes we have even been crowded off the platform by people who want to touch it. In Lethbridge, while we were in the airplane hanger waiting for the weather to clear, a woman came in with her three daughters and asked me if she could see the Torch. We brought it out and she touched it. Then she burst into tears. Whether she had any of her family in the war, I don't know, but she is just an example of the emotion arising from a look at the Torch."

"Thousands of people have touched the Torch and many hundreds have kissed it. In Winnipeg, the Torch had been handled so much that fresh gilt had to be applied. I suppose that it will have to be refinished again before it goes to Halifax."

Taking no chances that their scrolls will not reach Churchill, many municipalities have brought their signed pledges, containing the names of municipal officials, right to airports at which the plane has landed. There they have handed the scroll to the honor guard with the request that it be placed in the shaft of the Torch along with the Master Scroll. The scrolls will be taken to Britain along with the Torch and presented to Prime Minister

Winston Churchill as a symbol of Canada's effort to help crush the Hun.

By PETE SALLAWAY

AFTER a man has fished the waters on and around the island for a good few years one would naturally expect him to become somewhat case-hardened to fish thrills. That's what we thought! But after talking to Roger Monteith the morning after he landed that 40-pound spring salmon while casting off the rocks near Ten-Mile Point we have reached the conclusion a fisherman is always open to a new thrill. He can never reach that point of saturation where a singing reel fails to make his spine tingle in anticipation.

"It was the most unique catch of my angling career," Monteith told us. "That same fish hooked on a wire line and a carload of weight out at Brentwood would have meant nothing, but to catch such a beauty while casting off the rocks and using a steelhead outfit gave me one of the greatest thrills I have ever experienced. Of course, I realize it is just not the best thing for the chaps who rent boats, but then it gives Victoria a lot of good advertising. Those places who boast about their surf casting and such have nothing on us."

Only regret Monteith had was that the big fellow kept him hopping around for 40 minutes while several additional salmon were breaking water right in the same spot. "I figure there were a number of other fish that could have been attracted to the bait, but believe me I had my hands full and at the finish had had enough sport for one evening. But I'm going out again and figure I can hook into some more, but of course, it is not likely I will be fortunate enough to get another so big."

While talking to Monteith a chap strolled up and chipped in with: "You'll be lucky if you can find a rock to cast from after the news of this catch gets around. I'll never forget the season, I caught a bunch of trout in Prospect Lake while casting from the shore using a worm. News of the catch appeared in the papers and the next time I went out there was not a spot on the lake shore from which to make a cast. Just shows you what a little advertising does."

Monteith in describing the catch declared the 40-pounder hit the plug like a ton of bricks. "He just struck and headed for San Juan Island, taking out about 300 feet of line before I was able to show him down. Just goes to show you, one should always have plenty of line on a reel. He showed plenty of fight all the way and I worked plenty hard to get him in to gaff in 40 minutes. His pound-a-minute battle is the best proof of the sport I enjoyed."

Monteith went on to tell us that sport fishing on the island does not receive the publicity it warrants. "You fellows devote columns of space to soccer, rugby and baseball games. Lots of people go to see these exhibitions but only a few play. In fishing everybody takes part. Did you ever stop and figure out just what it means to this island in a business way. Money put out by the fishermen is spread all over. Many, many businesses share in the profit. Many other sections of Canada and the United States cannot lay claim to anything like the fishing enjoyed on this island and look at the steps they take to tell the world about their sport fishing. Fishing is one of the greatest assets this island has and it should be shouted from the roof tops."

Pass the salt, Oscar, before we sink our teeth into a chunk of that 40-pounder.

CRICKET MATCHES

A pair of cricket matches are scheduled tomorrow on local pitches. At Beacon Hill Park, Albions and Five C's will meet in a friendly fixture, while at Work Point Barracks the District Depot will be at home to the Garrison. Games are set for 2.30. Teams follow:

man, B. Freeman, Gibbons, Macham, Barker, Edwards, Austin, Hurn, Jones and Hoggarth.

Five C's — G. Payne (captain), Quainton, Martin, Comley, J. Payne, Griffin, Hood, Fraser, Ware, Harper, Attwell, and Hendra.

Iraq's oil field is sometimes described as the largest single oil field in the world.

Motorcyclists To Stage Circus

Once again the Victoria Motorcycle Club will present one of those thrilling entertainments that leave the audience wondering if they can believe their own eyes. Sponsored by the local Kinsmen Club the riders of the two-wheeled steeds will provide a two-hour show packed with thrills and laughs in the Willows Horse Show Building on the nights of June 20 and 21. Proceeds of the show will go to further the war effort of both organizations.

Stunt riding on a motorbike out in the open is considered hazardous enough, but to go through a complete routine of solo and sidecar trick-riding within the confines of two solid walls less than 100 feet apart calls for extreme skill and daring. Every act that the boys have used to thrill spectators all over the island at outdoor shows will be put on in the building, with the exception of the flaming board-wall crash. However, arrangements may be completed to give Victorians a chance to see this dare-devil stunt.

Apart from trick-riding the Motorcycle Club boasts some really clever clowns who can provide some good laughs as they mimic the preceding act. Motorcycle football or polo, as the riders call it, is always good for 10 minutes' sparking action and the skill of the riders as they speed the iron ponies after the ball, with a seeming reckless abandon, leaves spectators in breathless amazement. Teams of four instead of five will be used owing to the small playing area. Music between events will be provided by the Kinsmen's Boys' Band under the leadership of Al Prescott.

New Boxla Edict

Tonight is the night when Victoria boxla addicts will see if the edicts of the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association, concerning the refereeing at games here, are carried out. Ed. Popham, supervisor of referees, will instruct the arbiters to check up on boarding, slashing, excessively hard cross checking and many other ungentlemanly actions, right from the beginning of the games.

The subject was advanced by Lieut. Buster Woodward, manager of the Army team, at a meeting of the association last night. Lieut. Woodward stated that the refereeing was far on the lax side, and if it was not tightened up in accordance with the lacrosse rule book, there would ultimately be some serious injuries. It was pointed out by other officials that the smallness of the box tended toward rough tactics, especially along the boards, but were, nevertheless, agreed that much of it could be eliminated.

A telegram from the secretary of the mainland intercity lacrosse set-up, stating dates for a home-and-home series between the local Army team and the mainland intermediate R.C.A.F. team, was received and filed when Lieut. Woodward stated that no proper authority for such a series had been given.

NO PLAYER MONOPOLY

A ruling to stop hogging of new players by any one team was also passed last night and is now in effect. New players arriving in the city, who express a desire to play, are the property of the boxla association, and will be placed by that body.

Lynn Patrick got his desired transfer from the Jokers to Alerts last night, and this evening will appear in the red colors of coach Harry Sargison's team, who play Lynn's former teammates. However, the Jokers have been recompensed for this loss in the turning out of George

Shows Tomorrow

When the second auto racing program of the season is presented at the Langford Speedway tomorrow night, Seth Renning, above, that high-riding lad from Portland, Oregon, will be among the list of nine American drivers who will appear. Renning will be at the wheel of the powerful No. 5 car. The show will start at 7.45.

Derringer Cuts Loose

A lot of tears have been shed this season over the failure of big Paul Derringer to dominate the National League pitching scene as he did in leading Cincinnati Reds to two pennants and a world championship.

The Duke, at 33, is a year older than last year, a little fatter and a little slower. He was hurt in spring training and had some trouble getting started.

But 10 years in the big time have made this huge right-hander one of the craftiest hurlers in the business. He showed how tough he can be yesterday by pitching four-hit ball to beat Boston Braves 1 to 0. The Reds made only five singles themselves off young Art Johnson, a southpaw, but they linked two of them with a walk for a run in the first inning.

The day's only other National League game also was an airtight pitching spectacle between Carl Hubbell and Bill Lee, with New York Giants stopping Chicago Cubs 2 to 0. Lee allowed six hits to Hubbell's eight, but gave a run in the first inning on two singles, a walk and a fly, and two errors brought another in the fourth.

Although the teams were tied yesterday, a freak in the percentages lifted the Giants into third place ahead of the Reds, 510 to 509.

In the American League Boston Red Sox divided a double-header with St. Louis Browns in odd affairs. The Sox scored four runs in the first inning of the first game and then were shut out for the next eight frames by the im-

Must Stop Roughness

"Porky" Andrews, who, last year, was rated by many as the most improved player in the circuit. Patrick will go to the Alert defence, a spot where a man of his size has been in demand all this season.

McLean's Bakery and Heaney's will go at it in the junior preliminary game which starts at 7. The main game will start at 8.30.

Teams follow: Jokers — J. Skellern, M. Turner, B. Mackay, S. Andrews, "Porky" Andrews, W. Allen, K. Ludbrook, G. Coleman, Uttke, Card, Cadzian, Jack Skellern and Dale.

Alert Service — Harrison, Weinborn, Noel, K. Ovcharick, Coates, Pickford, Williams, Robbins, Hamm, Patrick, Price, Vember, A. Ovcharick and Ball.

McLean's Bakery — Taylor, Watson, Rhodes, Ransom, Penketh, Bishop, G. Lott, Braithwaite, Porter, Popham, Lea, McCaghey, Jones and Evans.

Louis in Three Rounds Says Noted Fight Critic

Triple Program Carded Tonight

Another program of boxing, wrestling and bicycle racing will be presented this evening at the Cycledrome, Douglas Street, by promoters Tommy Drysdale and Louis Callan.

With good weather promised, a large crowd is expected at the show, first event of which will start at 8.

As a special attraction, two former Winnipeg wrestlers will appear on the card.

Top notchers in the bike racing game, members of the Victoria Cycle Racing Club, will spin around the board track in two special events.

Four boxing matches will wind up the program. In the main event Roy Duval and Billy Foulds, former provincial champion, will battle it out in five rounds. In the semi-main Ben Fairclough and Jack Lawrence will swap leather in four rounds. Two prelims will bring together young local boxers.

Fourth Straight Softball Triumph

A 12 to 1 win for Macdonald Electric over H.M.C. Dockyard last evening in senior B division softball league play gave the electricians four straight triumphs without a defeat in their performance this season.

The electrical lads, with Ascot doing the pitching, kept the Dockyard boys scoreless up to the eighth inning while they ran up 11 of their runs. Seven of them came in the fourth inning. The 12th was scored in the ninth. Hough started on the hill for the Dockyard team and was replaced by Comerford after four innings.

SOFTBALL, NOT CRICKET

It was softball, not cricket, when Hunt's Garage beat New Method Laundry 46 to 7. This was a women's league game, played last evening.

In an exhibition fixture Kayvees slipped past Chinese Recreation Club 19 to 17.

Two women's league games are scheduled for this evening, starting at 6.20. Adverts will battle Unitys at Upper Central, with Simpson refereeing, and Cardinals will play Hudson's Bay Company at Lower Central, with F. Tooby calling the shots.

Claims Negro Still Great Champion

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis will knock out Billy Conn in about three rounds Wednesday at the Polo Grounds. If it goes longer than that, Billy will be just plain lucky.

This is said after a personal tour of inspection of the champion's training camp at Greenwood Lake, just up the Hudson, where the negro is getting ready to defend his championship.

There has been considerable talk about Louis being worn out by his strenuous spring campaign in which he has fought more often than necessary.

There is nothing to it, folks. This Joe Louis still is the greatest fighting man you or I will see in a lifetime.

There is nothing Joe Louis lacks to make him a great fighter. Yesterday I saw he was a much finer boxer than Billy Conn. Against four sparring partners, who were doing their poor best to emulate Conn, he picked off their punches with his right glove, a flick at a time, and then tore them to shreds.

What makes it worse for Conn, a mere light heavyweight trying to fight a big man, is that Louis is not feeling friendly about this fight. Joe has noted that Conn repeatedly has referred to him as a "dumb negro" and an "old man." While Louis realizes that a "ghost writer" has been responsible for these remarks, he still feels that Conn has condoned them, and he is sore about it.

"You know I don't try to name no rounds," he said before he went into the ring. "I'd rather not. But I'll get him quick as I can."

Joe was asked if he intended, by any chance, to take it easy and try to out-box Conn.

"No, sir," Joe said emphatically. "I'll get him the first round if I can. How long you guess it will take?"

"Two rounds, maybe."

"You think so," Joe said quickly. "I hope you're right."

Chemainus Nine To Play Eagles

Tomorrow's baseball menu at Athletic Park will offer a pair of games between two clubs, Chemainus and Eagles, engaged in a death struggle for the senior league championship. The ump's will call "play ball" at 2.30 and 6.

Chemainus, setting the pace, can clinch possession of the McGavin Cup with a double victory over the lodgemen. Should the Eagles win a pair they will move into the top slot. Each club is anxious to get away from a split.

Les Stobo, who twirled the Eagles to a win over Chemainus on the up-island lot, the first win for a local club over the up-landers, will start the afternoon game. Stan Davies is expected to get the call in the nightcap. Jack Naylor, first-string hurler for Chemainus, will go to the mound in the opening engagement.

Tonight at the park a league game will be played between Pitzer & Nex and Tillicum Athletics, starting at 6.

Defeating Cedar Hill Athletics, 10 to 2, last night, Manager Tommy Griffin's Eagles ran their winning streak in the second division to six games.

Ron Pratt, young Port Alberni portside, twirled one-hit ball for the winners. Scroggs, Eagles, laced out a home run in the fourth with two mates on the cushions.

Playing at Admirals Road, Navy defeated Pitzer & Nex, 9 to 2, in another second division contest.

Louis never looked better to the naked eye than he does right now. Big as he is, there doesn't appear to be a pound of excess flesh on his 202-pound frame.

The Daily Double at Lincoln Fields yesterday paid $38.00. The safest bet on the board every day is Daily Double Cigars, 2 for 5¢. Be sure to buy some today.

WARTIME ACTIVITIES IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Nowhere in Canada is there a graver sense of this crisis in the Empire's affairs than in British Columbia.

With it there is a keen appreciation of the vital importance of our Resources, and a clear determination to pledge them unreservedly to prosecution of the War Effort.

In every phase of Governmental activity COLLABORATION has been the watchword.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ATTORNEY- GENERAL

Prompt steps were taken by the Provincial Police to protect all vital services, and to collaborate in guarding all strategic points.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

This Department has been outstandingly successful in its efforts to meet the constantly-changing situation. But for its vigorous action and strong initiative, the cessation of essential supplies from Europe would have been much more keenly felt in Canada.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

The training of youths and adults to meet the exigencies of the times has been and is being vigorously pursued. Armed forces and wartime industries are benefiting greatly from the work this Department performs.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

The fiscal policy of the Province has been adjusted to meet the Nation's wartime requirements. British Columbia was the first Province to accept the Dominion's proposal that the Provinces vacate the field of personal and corporation income taxation for the duration of the war. Substantial aid has been given by the outright repayment of provincial maturities, thus releasing almost $28,000,000 for investment in the War Effort.

DEPARTMENT OF FISHERIES

To meet the pressing need for low cost nutritious foodstuffs, this Department has exerted itself to develop and expand the herring pack, and to find our own supplies of those oils which formerly were imported.

FOREST SERVICE

With its elaborate field organization, the Forest Service has been of inestimable assistance, and its staff of highly-trained specialists has been loaned unsparingly.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Through its efforts, British Columbia has been kept singularly free from disturbance and unrest. Co-operation has been excellent, and there has been no interference with the carrying on of its war industries.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES

This Department has maintained a close liaison with both the British and Dominion Governments, and has been vigorously active in promoting production of gold, silver, and base metals, and in prosecuting the search for war minerals. In many cases, roads and trails have been substantially improved, to aid producers in shipping their output.

DEPARTMENT OF THE PROVINCIAL SECRETARY

Social Services are being maintained, and the public health stoutly safeguarded, while the training of youth is being pursued with unabated energy.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

Machinery, tools and camp equipment have been placed at the disposal of the military authorities, and essential lines of communication vigorously maintained.

SURVEY BRANCH

All its intricate knowledge has been made available, and its other activities subordinated to the needs of National Defence.

DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND INDUSTRY

This Department has labored unceasingly in the interests of Trade Expansion, and has been of invaluable assistance to British Columbia producers, and in maintaining Canada's Foreign Exchange through its widespread campaign in the interests of Tourism. In 1939 a representative of the Department was detailed to Ottawa to keep our manufacturers well before the purchasing authorities. In that regard British Columbia was first in the field, and marked success has attended its representative's efforts.

British Columbia realizes that while undoubtedly stern sacrifices will be called for, the business of living and of making a living must go steadily on and every effort is being made to ensure that, so far as possible, our standards of living are left unimpaired.

was reported missing. Mr. Elmhurst called police at 9.30 in the evening. Detectives Maurice Wilkinson and Fearon Woodburn found that entrance to the house had been gained through an unlocked kitchen window.

All rooms were ransacked and clothing disturbed. Two dollars of the $5 were taken from a pocket in a pair of pants.

The Colwood Women's Institute will hold a bridge, 500 and cribbage tomorrow night at 8, in the Colwood Hall, to benefit the institute's war work. To date many clothes and other articles have been sent overseas for the air-raid victims, it is reported.

Left Blitz Job To Sell Goods

Walter Paul Thornhill, director of Wedgwood and Company Ltd., Tunstall, Staffs., pottery firm, left his fire warden's job in London to make a flying trip to Canada and the United States on a mission to build up British export trade. When he returns home in a few weeks time he will do his fireman's uniform again to help fight the blitzed areas of the British metropolis.

"The morale of Londoners and the British people generally under fire is twice as good as anyone can picture it," said Mr. Thornhill at the Empress Hotel today. A Britisher can take anything that a Jerry can give him. But they won't be able to take what we are going to give them."

He referred to the latest heavy British raids over the Ruhr and Goebbels' warning to Berliners to get below ground to escape the effect of the British super-destructive bombs.

For a year before the war, Mr. Thornhill served as a voluntary fireman in London, and since he has been getting £3 a week working full time fighting fires.

He and his wife are in this country developing export trade, sent here through the British Department of Overseas Trade. Mrs. Thornhill represents the Scotia Knitting Company Ltd.

"We are helping to let the world know that although Britain is at war, she is still capable of producing goods and maintaining her overseas markets."

In this, there is complete co-operation. When one firm is temporarily blitzed out of production, its products are turned out by competitors in business.

O. Margison Here
Oswald Margison, B.Sc., of Toronto, former Victoria boy, now one of the top consulting engineers of Canada, flew to Victoria this week to visit relatives here and on Salt Spring Island. He left by plane this afternoon for Regina, where he is consulting engineer in charge of the construction of the new mail order and wholesale building for the Robert Simpson Company. He will be back in Toronto before the end of the month.

A fire hydrant was found broken off and spouting water on Dallas Road at 4.35 this morning by Constable Angus Munro of the city police force.

1,600 Leave High Schools In Greater Victoria Area

SO LONG, TEACHER—Characteristic of scenes about Greater Victoria High Schools this afternoon is the picture above in which Mrs. Harriett Doull Esselmont, retiring physical education instructor at Victoria High, bids farewell to students starting their summer vacation.

Approximately 1,600 students from Greater Victoria high schools packed their books today for the long vacation.

For some Friday 13 signalled the start of a holiday longer than usual, for others opportunity to fill one of 160 jobs for which young men and women are urgently needed through a shortage of labor.

Several principals today reported pupils going into war-related industries.

In the various centres closing exercises were held. Some pupils left their benches happy with freedom. Others lingered, saying farewells to favorite teachers and youth companions, whom they may not see for years.

SOME TO WRITE TESTS

The release of the larger number of all high school pupils was made effective to permit those matriculation students and others who must take departmental examinations to write next week without interruption. Tests are not required from all students. The majority are recommended. In some instances pupils are required to sit for one or two subjects, while in others they try them all.

Victoria High School, from which 1,000 departed this afternoon, started closing-day ceremonies with a special musical program this morning. The mixed choir of 200 voices was heard in "The Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond," "John Peel," and other selections. This afternoon athletic awards were presented at a ceremony beginning at 2.30.

The Saanich High Schools, which released an approximate 250, observed similar functions, with short programs. On June 23 and 24 the industrial arts classes will hold a display of work in the Tolmie School prior to the winding up of the lower school term.

Presentation of the special shield for inter-house competition featured the exercises at Esquimalt High School, where another 25 finished their work for the school year this afternoon. The award was given to Arthur Young, captain of North House.

HOLD PRIZE-GIVING

Oak Bay High held its regular prize-giving ceremonies this afternoon with chief honors going to Jack Stonehewer, top student in the school, and to Hilda Russell, winner of the Merit Cup. Approximately 300 left immediately after for the vacation, the remainder being listed to sit for one or more tests next week.

The Provincial Normal School, which held its annual final function about two weeks ago, officially closed its doors today, but the teachers in training had previously left to finish off their practical work in rural schools on the island and in the interior. They will continue their teaching activities until the grade schools close on June 25. The procedure, which sends them out to the smaller schools for the last part of their training, is an innovation this year.

PHARMACY ACT BRINGS FINES

Fines totaling $100 were imposed by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in City Police Court today on Joseph T. Flynn and the Druggeteria, 720 Yates Street, of which Mr. Flynn is the majority shareholder, on six charges laid under the Pharmaceutical Act.

W. T. Straith appeared for Mr. Flynn and the Druggeteria, and through him pleas of guilty were entered on all six charges.

Mr. Flynn was fined $25 for selling drugs without a license and $25 for selling articles for the prevention of venereal disease without a license. He was given suspended sentence on two other charges, for carrying on a business as a pharmaceutical druggist without having the proper sign displayed over the door, and for operating a store and not being registered as a pharmaceutical chemist.

Fines of $25 each were imposed on the Druggeteria on two charges laid. The first was that as an incorporated company it sold pills containing drugs without a chemist in attendance and the second, for carrying on business without having a sign, licensed pharmacy, displayed.

Evidence of Mr. Flynn selling pills containing drugs was given by Charles Burr of the Pharmaceutical Association. Mr. Straith said that the accused had difficulty obtaining a licensed chemist to manage the store as there was a shortage due to the war. He was in the act also of removing the drug department in the store because of this fact, when the charges were laid May 30.

An invitation has been extended to all graduating students of Victoria High School to attend the V.H.S. Alumni Association's beach party and picnic on Sunday at Sandy Beach. The party will leave the City Hall at 1.

Street car service at Douglas and Yates Streets was disrupted for nearly 10 minutes at noon today when a taxi driven by James Atkinson, 1024 Pandora Avenue, going east on Yates, was in collision with an Oak Bay street car operated by William Kelby, 3316 Glasgow Avenue, going west. The left front fender and door of the taxi was damaged.

PLAZA THEATRE
Introducing Roscoe Karns and Ruth Donnelly in a gay comedy which, though separate from their usual delineations so popular locally, stems from the same type of domestic complications and problems. Republic's "The Gay Vagabond" won cheers and guffaws from a first-night audience yesterday at the Plaza Theatre, where the film is now playing. It was plain to see that down-to-earth comedy is still the number one choice of the public.

"The Gay Vagabond" presents Karns in that funniest of situations—an "identical twins" setup.

CADET THEATRE
Loaded with excitement, thrills, laughter and romance, "Night Train to Munich," currently at the Cadet Theatre, is the greatest fun thriller ever produced in British studios. Rex Harrison, costarred with Margaret Lockwood, portrays a daring young British intelligence officer at work in Germany, and is assisted by the famous comedy team of Naughton Wayne and Basil Radford.

RIO THEATRE

The Victoria Little Theatre and Dramatic School brings its current season to a close this week with a three-night run of A. A. Milne's popular comedy, which opened last night at its theatre hall, Langham Court, Rockland Avenue.

The Little Theatre has had a longer career than any other dramatic organization at present in existence in Victoria and it has certainly done many better plays than this, although for light entertainment value it is a good choice, and therefore will probably be a popular choice at this time.

The story concerns George and Olivia Marsden, English County people, their niece, Dinah, and her unapproved sweetheart, Brian Strange, and Mr. Pim, who in passing by brings the devastating news that Olivia's rascally first husband, believed dead, is alive. Conservative George's reaction to this news and Olivia's use of it to further the romance of the two young people is interspersed by the intermittent passing-by of Mr. Pim and the appearance of Lady Marsden, George's strong-minded aunt.

George, as played by Albert Smith, was likeable, stiffly conservative, not entirely convincing as to age and English county, Canadian pronunciation destroying the illusion every now and then, but excellent in timing, variety of tempo and with all his gestures and movements well motivated. He spoke his lines

MERLE OBERON IN DOMINION COMEDY

Viewing the sets of Ernest Lubitsch's "That Uncertain Feeling," the light-hearted comedy which co-stars Merle Oberon and Melvyn Douglas, and which Sol Lesser presents today at the Dominion Theatre, the average visitor would say offhand that Alex Goltztein, the designer, had been able to earn his pay cheque the easy way.

Sets of the type seen in "That Uncertain Feeling," which serve purely as a background, are actually more difficult to design, says Goltztein, than spectacular or atmospheric sets such as he did for the recent "Foreign Correspondent."

CAPITOL THEATRE
Exactly the same system which Florenz Ziegfeld and his stage director, Ned Wayburn, used for the selection of their Follicle beauties was followed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in choosing the showgirls for "Ziegfeld Girl," spectacular musical currently at the Capitol Theatre.

Ziegfeld believed that a pretty face was the first requisite, then an attractive figure. Next he required a girl to be able to dance or at least be able to carry herself gracefully. Applicants were lined up backstage and advanced one at a time across the stage in time to dance music. They walked to the far side, came downstage to the footlights, walked to the backdrop and were measured for height, then exited.

No announcement was made as to whether the girl had been selected. She was notified later.

YORK THEATRE
"I Was a Spy," which opened yesterday at the York Theatre, with Madeleine Carroll and Herbert Marshall co-starred, is, as its name implies, a spy picture. But it would be unfair to place in any category a story as original, exciting and human as this one. It is the sort of picture that establishes a trend rather than follows one. It is alive with real people, and genuinely human situations. Chalk it down as one of the most exciting, as well as one of the most realistic pictures ever made.

The reason for the authentic quality that makes witnessing this picture a genuine experience is the fact that the author of the story was its heroine in real life, and experienced in fact the drama that unfolds on the screen.

ATLAS THEATRE
A complete set of off-stage stills of the Hardy Family was made by Mickey Rooney between scenes of the newest Hardy picture, "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," now at the Atlas Theatre. It tells the story of Andy's graduation from high school.

OAK BAY THEATRE
Specially-designed furniture for the colonial interiors in director-producer Frank Lloyd's "The Howards of Virginia," now at the Oak Bay Theatre with Cary Grant and Martha Scott co-starring, cost close to $50,000. All items are copies of antiques on exhibition at Williamsburg, Va., where the Rockefeller family spent $20,000,000.

Bismarck's End

Weaving Battle Fought After Warships' Search

By DOUG HOW

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Details of the battle of the Bismarck were disclosed in Canada by a Royal Navy officer who saw that spectacular struggle end in destruction of the 35,000-ton German dreadnought.

He saw the Rodney and King George V fighting a weaving battle in which they suffered not a single casualty, in which the Bismarck's explosives never got closer than 20 yards, and in which their only wounds were "four or five holes" from bits of exploding shell.

The Briton unfolded this account of a drama that had its last chapter written 400 miles west of the German-held harbor at Brest, France.

"We got orders May 23 to intercept the Bismarck if she came south, so we steamed westward. Early in the morning we heard the Hood and Prince of Wales were in sight of the enemy and later heard the Hood had blown up and the Prince of Wales had been damaged.

"We were informed the enemy had broken through and was steaming south at about 26 knots. We continued on the night of the 24th to steer an intercepting course."

BISMARCK LOST

"Late the next night, the commander-in-chief aboard the King George V signaled he would engage the enemy at 9 o'clock the next morning. At 3 a.m. of the 25th, the shadowing cruisers lost sight of the Bismarck and the cruiser Prinz Eugen, so instead of engaging the enemy, the commander-in-chief and all others involved had to go in search of him.

"Our position that morning was favorable in interception if the enemy made for France. We remained roughly in that area all day, steering a course across the expected line of advance by the Bismarck.

"On the 26th about 10.30 a.m., the Bismarck was reported again by a Catalina flying boat and soon by aircraft from the Ark Royal. She was still going over 20 knots and it became obvious that unless something was done to reduce her speed she would almost certainly elude us.

"Two torpedo-bombing attacks were launched from the Ark Royal but no hits were reported. The ship's company were informed at 9.30 that night that it was unlikely we would get into action.

"But a few minutes later a report was received the Bismarck was turning in circles and making smoke. A little later this was amplified to say the enemy was steering north at about 12 knots. This put a completely different complexion on the situation as the enemy obviously was disabled and now was steering directly toward us.

CHEERS SENT UP

"The glad news was given to the ship's company and they were suitably gratified and sent up a tremendous cheer. Soon after dark, we received reports from the captain of a destroyer flotilla that he was in touch with the enemy. During the night destroyers of this flotilla made torpedo attacks on the Bismarck, one at a time, while the remainder kept in shadowing positions.

"The destroyers Cossack and Maori both scored hits and the Cossack reported the enemy nearly stopped. At this time we were under some apprehension the Bismarck might sink before we got at her. But this fear was soon dispelled by a signal from the Cossack that although much reduced in speed the enemy was in full possession of his main and secondary armament.

"The Bismarck was now some 400 miles to the west of Brest, surrounded by destroyers who reported her every movement. The commander-in-chief decided to steer westward so as to have her against the morning light and to attack at dawn of the 27th.

"The ship's company went to action stations in readiness for anything that might happen during the night. When light came, visibility was poor and there were heavy squalls and showers sweeping across the horizon.

"The enemy salvos still continued to arrive and some fell pretty close to the Rodney. But fires could be seen aboard the Bismarck and her fore turret was pointing in the wrong direction and apparently unable to move.

"She was soon hit in the fore-part and another turret was seen to be out of action with the guns dropping almost down to the deck.

"By this time the Bismarck was moving much slower and in order to keep close to her the Rodney and King George V had to turn completely around two or three times. The Bismarck's after turret was still firing, but at longish intervals. The range closed still more and frequent hits were scored on the enemy, both with main and secondary armament.

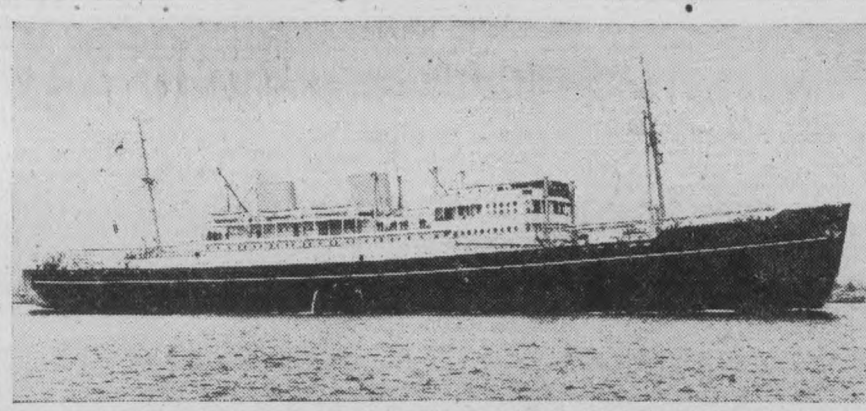

"More fires were observed and the back of one of her turrets blew right off and went over the side. Another spectacular hit was seen on her bridge and yet another on her quarterdeck.

"At the end of this phase the enemy's fire had apparently ceased—it was about 9.30 a.m., but her colors were still flying and courses were steered, as it was necessary to try to sink her by gun and torpedo as quickly as possible as both submarine and air attack were to be expected.

"Now torpedoes, I am told, were fired from the Rodney, two of which hit the Bismarck amidships. The enemy was a mass of flames and black smoke was very low in the water. Firing ceased.

"The commander-in-chief ordered the cruiser Dorsetshire, which had arrived from the south, to fire torpedoes at the enemy, which she did and the Bismarck sank shortly after, about 11 a.m.

"I believe the first hit was scored on the enemy by the third salvo from the Rodney, which had opened fire with her A and B turrets. There were no casualties on either the Rodney or the King George V."

DANISH MOTORSHIP LOST—Ms. Europa, of the Danish East Asiatic Company, well known in the European-British Columbia trade, was destroyed in May by enemy action, according to reports from American sources. This fine combined passenger and freight carrier was built especially for the north Pacific coast run and on several occasions has been drydocked at Esquimalt for refit. Her sister-ship, Ms. Canada, was sunk earlier in the war, off the British coast, but believed to be salvageable.

Strikers Vote On Resumption

WASHINGTON (AP) — Resumption of full-speed production on $500,000,000 worth of United States defence shipbuilding in the San Francisco Bay area depended today on the response of striking A.F.L. machinists to telegraphed instructions from their international executive council in Washington to return to their jobs in 11 shipyards.

Possibility the machinists might go to work Monday was voiced by Harry Hook, San Francisco business agent, who set a meeting Sunday to consider the council action. He said a "full and democratic discussion" would be held, followed by a secret ballot.

Action on this biggest obstacle so far interposed to the all-out ship construction effort came last night in deference to a "direct request" from President Roosevelt, the executive council announced.

A strike scheduled for mid-night at two Pittsburgh plants of the airplane propeller division of the Curtiss Wright Company was called off at request of the Defense Mediation Board.

The A.F.L. Machinists' Union at the big Consolidated Aircraft Corporation plant in San Diego, Cal., announced ratification of new contract terms by a nine to one vote, removing possibility of a walkout against Consair, which holds $700,000,000 in bomber orders for Britain and the U.S.

A drive to "clean out Communists" from the Congress of Industrial Organizations-United Automobile Workers' organizing drive in the Pacific coast aircraft industry was proclaimed by Richard T. Frankenstein, C.I.O.-U.A.W. aircraft director, as normal production of 10 warplanes daily neared at the army-occupied North American Aviation plant at Inglewood, Calif. The plant, guarded by 4,000 troops, is engaged on $196,000,000 contracts for Britain and the U.S.

The Labor Department in Washington reported settlement of a wage dispute involving 3,400 workers at five plants of the Reynolds Metal Company, manufacturing aluminum products.

As a revolt within the ranks of the International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.) continued today, Schafer Mill No. 4 of Aberdeen became the first plant to resume operations since a strike of 22,000 mill workers and loggers tied up 52 western Washington operations.

The Schafer loggers overruled the action of the I.W.A. leaders in rejecting a National Defence Mediation Board's back-to-work proposal and voted to negotiate independently with their employers.

Ending a four-year struggle with the C.I.O.-Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, the Bethlehem Steel Company signed a formal stipulation yesterday agreeing to negotiate and sign a union contract if the S.W.O.C. wins a labor board election June 25 at two Bethlehem plants and three fabricating shops.

JAP SEAMAN HELD BY TACOMA AGENTS

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Treasury Department agents today held Tysaka Nichida, quartermaster of the Japanese ship Koei Maru, on charges of violating the National Defence Act. Agents said he visited every drug store in Aberdeen on June 8 and purchased all available stocks of mercury with intent to export the substance, vital to national defence. Eight pounds of mercury were confiscated.

TCA PEAK MONTH

Trans-Canada Airlines carried 6,610 passengers in April, a figure exceeded only once before in the peak month of August, 1940. The average passenger journey was 541 miles and the passenger miles traveled was the greatest since TCA commenced service.

Air mail carried also set a new all-time high at 104,845 pounds. It is the first time the national air service has carried more than 50 tons of mail in a monthly period.

Air express poundage was also up sharply at 12,682 pounds, a 33½ per cent increase over March. The figures are released by D. B. Colver, vice-president, Trans-Canada Airlines.

The female sex is making further inroads into the business of air transport. Trans-Canada Airlines is now training four young women at Winnipeg as passenger agents. Their work will be principally handling passengers at airport offices. The move is experimental as far as TCA is concerned, dictated by war conditions. Many of its passenger agents are now in military service. Requirements are: Common sense, good appearance, ability to meet the public, 5 feet 7 inches—or better—in height.

There is a steady movement of flowers from British Columbia by air express the year around, great quantities, particularly during the winter season, being flown overnight by airlines to the Trans-Canada Airlines to destinations in the prairies, Ontario, Quebec and Maritimes.

Bell Down 2 Points

MONTREAL (CP)—Weakness entered the stock market in late dealings Friday, though the small group of issues which opened firmly held their gains. Bell Telephone, in utilities, dropped two points. Montreal Power improved on an early advance and Canada Northern Power continued higher.

Mines turned soft near the end, Hollinger and Nickel both ceding the minimum fraction.

New York List

NEW YORK (AP)—Rallying vitality waned in the stock market today as customers with comfortable profits on the lengthy bulge took home a little cash as insurance against week-end happenings.

While recently 'strong' movers dropped 1 to 2 or more points at the worst, the majority of losses were in fractions. Most rails limited minus signs to small amounts. Utilities, oils, rubbers and aircrafts contested selling. Steels and motors were backward.

Transfers were around 450,000 shares. Among the stocks Western Union and Postal Telegraph preferred posted new highs for the year, reviving conjectures as to the chances of a merger of communications systems being approved by Washington. Standard Oil (N.J.), Phillips Petroleum and Armour preferred also got into new high ground for 1941.

On the losing end the greater part of the day were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse, DuPont, J. I. Case, Consolidated Aircraft, Anaconda and American Smelting.

Canadian issues were lower. International Nickel and Canadian Pacific lost ¼ and ½. In the bond market Canada 4s fell ½ of a point.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:
30 Industrials, 122.31, off 0.67
20 rails ..... 28.36, off 0.04
15 utilities ..... 17.60, off 0.09
Total sales (approx.)—400,000 shares.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP) — Moderate gains at Chicago stiffened coarse grain futures prices on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today while lack of export business in Canadian wheat held trading in wheat futures to a minimum. The only wheat option on the board—July—clung to its pegged level of 77½ cents a bushel throughout the quiet session.

The firmness at Chicago, where wheat values gained about a cent and coarse grain quotations advanced substantially, heartened coarse grains here and lifted prices to higher levels in light trade. Minor mill buying boosted oats values more than ½ cent, flax climbed about two cents on scattered support from crushers while barley and rye quotations improved fractionally on southern purchasing.

Crabs Give Rides to Plantlike Animals

In early days of the Christian church, many men left their homes to go to some forest, or other deserted place, to spend their lives. They were called "hermits," and people spoke of how "holly" they were, because they spent so much time in prayer.

To this day there are hermits. Present-day hermits may not "leave the world" for any reason of religion, but they like to be by themselves.

Hermit crabs. The one marked "2" has seaweed growing on its shell home. Two others have shells bearing plantlike animals.

In the animal world certain crabs live by themselves, each "all alone in a house." They are called "hermit crabs."

Like other crabs, the hermit has a shell which is shed from time to time. The little animal may start with a length of half an inch, but it keeps growing larger. The old shell is too small, so it is thrown off and a new shell grows.

The hermit crab, however, has a special custom. It is not content with the shell Nature gave it, so it moves about until it finds a shell made by some other animal. Often it goes into the shells of the large snails known as whelks and winkles.

When possible, the hermit crab goes into an empty shell. Yet if it doesn't find such a shell, it is quite willing to kill some small, weak sea animal and take its shell away.

Hermit crabs are small themselves. Most of them do not grow to be more than three or four inches long. One kind is only one inch long when full grown.

You may wonder how a hermit crab can shed its own shell if it is inside another shell. The answer is that it gets out of the large shell when the time for shedding comes. Then it looks around for a bigger home.

It is important for the hermit to find a new home as quickly as possible. After its own shell is shed, its body is soft and could easily be crushed by enemies.

Safely in its home, the hermit crab can block the entrance with the claws at the ends of its front pair of legs. When it finds something to eat, it can poke its head out of the opening.

Certain plantlike animals often fasten themselves to shells in which these crabs live. When the crabs stretch their legs out of the shells and crawl around, they give free rides to the animals on the shells.

Sometimes a bristle worm crawls into a hermit's home and stays there. When the crab eats something, the bristle worm puts out its head and takes a small share of the food.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Two years ago the boy I had gone with for four years and loved sincerely was transferred to Hawaii. He was a soldier. Before leaving he asked me to wait for him and marry him on his return to the States. He gave me an engagement ring and left promising to write me weekly, which he has done faithfully, and he has also sent me many handsome presents. But I got tired of waiting for him and married another man whom I believed myself to be in love with and who loved me. I didn't tell him that I had married and he doesn't know it, but now he is coming back expecting to marry me and I don't know what to do. I think I love him better than I do my husband. What would you advise?

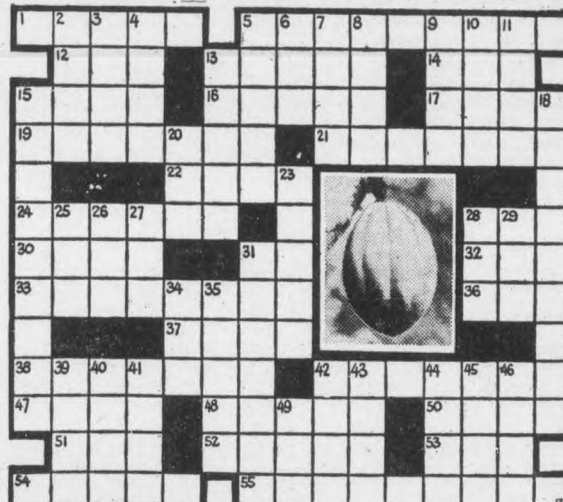

UNCERTAIN.

Answer—It is understandable that a light-minded and frivolous girl, who was more in love with love than she was with the man anyway, might fall out of love with a sweetheart who was far away and fall in love with a man who was Johnny-on-the-spot. But it is incomprehensible that any woman could be so lacking in all sense of honesty and fair play as not to tell the man who trusted her. I hope you will have enough decency to let him know that you are another man's wife before he comes to claim you as his bride.

I don't think you need bother your head with trying to decide whether you will divorce your husband and marry your old lover after all. You are probably the last woman on earth he will want as a wife.

DOROTHY DIX.
